

Six Armistice Services Will Honor Fallen

Major Commemoration Thursday Will Be Held at Cenotaph

By ROY THORSEN

Calling the "Last Post" will ring out in various sectors of Greater Victoria Thursday when thousands of citizens will bow heads in tribute to Canadians killed in war service.

Six "Lest We Forget" services are on the district's Remembrance Day program, to keep alive the memory of those who made the supreme sacrifice so that Canada and Canadians can continue to retain their democratic way of life.

A total of 66,450 Canadians were killed in the First World War, 41,900 in the second war. Remembrance Day services were held in all city churches

Field Marshal, Viscount Montgomery, in Ottawa today for defense talks, will broadcast a Remembrance Day message over the Trans-Canada network of the CBC at 7:20, Thursday morning.

last Sunday, but special holy communions will be held at Christ Church Cathedral and some other churches Thursday at 11 a.m.

All Services to Participate

Highlight outdoor service will be at the Cenotaph on the southeast corner of the lawns of the Legislative Buildings. The RCN band, naval personnel, veterans, active and reserve army officers and men, RCAF reserve, RCMP, services' cadets, Boy Scouts and others will participate, in this biggest of remembrance parades in this area, to start at 10:30 a.m. from Humboldt and Government.

A navy PO, an army sergeant, a sergeant from the RCAF and an RCMP officer will be positioned at the corners of the Cenotaph.

Twenty-five pounders fired by local Active Army personnel will signal the two-minute silence at 11 a.m.

Rev. Canon E. M. Tomalin, former RCAF padre, will officiate at the service. Following a short hymn period, benediction, the "Last Post" and "Reveille" will be sounded on the bugle and "O Canada" played by the naval band. Laying of wreaths will follow, the first being laid by Lieut.-Gov. Clarence Wallace.

After all have been placed the parade will march off and be saluted by the Governor on a dais in front of the Empress Hotel. While the Victoria ceremony is going on, a similar program will be held at the Esquimalt Cenotaph in Esquimalt Memorial Park. It is being conducted by the Esquimalt Canadian Legion branch and will feature the Royal Canadian Navy. Rev. William Hills, veteran naval padre of the Second World War, will be the chief minister at the service.

Veterans, irrespective of whether they are members of the legion, have been invited to join the parade to the Cenotaph. The parade will assemble outside the legion branch at 622 Admirals Road at 10:30 a.m.

Following the Victoria Cenotaph service, the Canadian Scottish Regiment (Princess Mary's) personnel will march to Pioneer Square for a special service in honor of the Scottish killed in the last two wars. IN PEACE AND FRIENDSHIP

Churchill Urges East, West Unity

LONDON (UP)—Prime Minister Winston Churchill appealed to East and West Tuesday night to seek an understanding so that mankind can "reach some day, with God's blessing, the shelter of a calmer and kinder age."

"I am one of those who believe that the powers of the West and of the East should try to live in a friendly and peaceful way with each other," he said. "It would certainly not be to anyone's disadvantage if they tried."

Churchill said, "We don't agree with Soviet Communism or with their system of one party uniformity" but that is a matter for the Russians to decide themselves so long as "they do not endanger the safety of the free world."

Churchill spoke at a banquet for the Lord Mayor at London's Guildhall. His words were broadcast throughout the land by radio and television.

He added, "I am an optimist—it does not seem to be much use being anything else." "We might even find ourselves in a few years moving along a broad, smooth causeway of peace and plenty instead of roaming and veering around on the rim of hell."

French Socialists Back Mendes-France

PARIS (UP)—The powerful French Socialist party today prepared to throw its support behind the idea of Western European union and plans for German rearmament.

The Socialist move greatly strengthened the chances for ratification of the two programs by the National Assembly in next month's crucial vote.

City Climber Safe in Hospital

Dr. N. H. Jones shown with injured climber Charles Faulkner, climbed mountain with rescue party to prepare him for harrowing trip out.

Epic 50-Hour Ordeal Saves Injured Climber

By HUMPHRY DAVY

Injured mountain climber Charles E. Faulkner, 22-year-old Victorian, was "bearing up well" in hospital today after his 50-hour ordeal on towering Mount Arrowsmith's windswept peak.

Faulkner was conscious and cheerful when carried to safety late Tuesday. He was exhausted. So were the 50 rescuers who risked life and limb in a three-day battle to snatch him from the 6,000-foot peak's grip.

The 200-pound Victorian smashed his leg Sunday when he fell near Arrowsmith's summit, catapulting 100 feet to a tiny ledge.

Faulkner told one of his rescuers Tuesday that "the next time I fall, it will be down a flight of stairs. That won't give anyone any trouble."

AT DEATH'S EDGE

In West Coast General Hospital Tuesday night doctors treated the compound fracture of his leg which incapacitated Faulkner inches from the ledge's edge—and another fall that might have killed him. But it will be some days before it will be possible to set the compound fracture of the leg bone.

He also is suffering from shock and exposure. The pain in his leg was "terrible" this forenoon, but hospital officials said he was "bearing up well."

Faulkner was brought down from the mountain in an aluminum basket stretcher at 6:30 p.m. Tuesday. He was conscious and cheerful, but evidently in pain and completely exhausted.

MET BY FATHER

He was placed in an ambulance which was waiting for him at the lower end of Cameron Lake and rushed to the hospital in Alberni. Charles E. Faulkner Sr., of 936 Fullerton, was present to meet his son.

Faulkner's rescuers performed one of the most daring and heroic alpine feats in the history of Vancouver Island. Many were civilians without mountaineering experience who left their jobs to undertake the mercy mission.

One person was injured in the rescue. Joe Lynn of Alberni, 16, was struck by a shower of rocks when attempting to reach the injured climber. One of the stones cut a deep gash on his head.

Lynn underwent minor surgery Tuesday. He was permitted to leave the Alberni hospital this morning.

Constable Iain Hall of Parksville, in charge of the rescue party, said it was "miraculous" that no one was injured or killed while bringing down the injured climber.

"It was terrible up there," he said. "Terrible is the only word that can describe it."

The rescue started Sunday night when Faulkner's climbing companion, Brian Saunders of Metchosis, staggered out to the highway bringing word to the RCMP that his friend was seriously injured on a ledge near Arrowsmith's peak.

Ulf Bitterlich, one of the Island's most experienced climbers, and Leo Lynn, left that night and found Faulkner lying on a tiny ledge overlooking a 300-foot precipice. Below was an alpine plateau covered with boulders.

TIED TO ROCK

The two men were unable to move Faulkner, because of his broken leg. Using nylon rope, they tied him to a rock to prevent him from falling over. They also bandaged his leg and tried to make him warm and comfortable.

Knowland Calls Again For Break With Reds

MIAMI (UP)—Sen. William F. Knowland, angered by the shooting down of an American plane by Communist fighters, renewed Tuesday night his demand that the United States break off diplomatic relations with Russia.

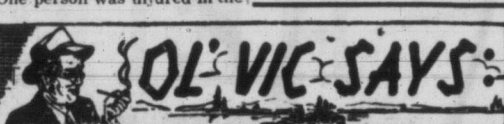

The California Republican said that if such action were taken the United States would lose the "limited value" of having an ambassador in Moscow, but the Russians would lose the "much greater advantage of having their embassy and consulates in this country where they serve as centres of espionage."

2 Men Drown As Fishboat Sinks in Gulf

Heavily Loaded Packer Swamped Off Fraser

VANCOUVER (BUP)—The 39-foot fishpacker Salmon Queen sank just before midnight in the Gulf of Georgia and the two crewmen aboard were drowned.

The boat swamped when it was heading into the mouth of the Fraser River with a load of fish. The two men, Jack Bruce, 22, of New Westminster, and Fred Orlesky, 19, of Lulu Island, were given up for lost early today.

The Salmon Queen, under charter to the B.C. Fish Packers Ltd., radioed at 11:39 p.m. that she was taking water over her stern about four miles off the Fraser River lightship while heading for the Imperial Cannery at Steveston.

The Salmon Queen was in company with another B.C. Fish Packers' boat, the Spay 1, when it was swamped by a huge wave. Crewmen aboard the second boat, including Skipper Leo Carter, said they thought they saw the boat go down but they could not be sure because of rain and squalls.

A search launched by the Coast Tow Boat Owners' Association, under direction of Capt. Cyril Andrews, brought nearly 60 vessels into the hunt, some of them radar-equipped. The CPR steamer Princess Elizabeth spent two hours searching on her overnight run to Victoria.

BOAT RECOVERED

One of the search boats, the Texada, recovered the Salmon Queen's mahogany, fibreglass-bottomed, lifeboat just after dawn but there was no sign of the missing men.

An air force Canso flying boat went into the search at dawn but was withdrawn after failing to make any sighting of the sunken vessel. An air force spokesman said the boat had sunk too deep to be sighted from the air.

Iranians Execute Fatemi

TEHRAN, Iran (AP)—Former foreign minister Hossein Fatemi, firebrand of Mohammed Mossadegh's government, died before an army firing squad at dawn today for his part in the 1953 plot to unseat the shah.

Fatemi was convicted and sentenced by a military court a month ago.

The execution was carried out in secret at Ghasr barracks. It came as a surprise, since army sources said last week-end it would be delayed indefinitely because Fatemi was seriously ill.

Fatemi's former chief, ex-Premier Mossadegh, was convicted last December of trying to overthrow the monarch and is serving three years' solitary confinement.

Hunt for Dangerous Convict Shifts to New Westminster

NEW WESTMINSTER (BUP)—The intensive police hunt for James Carroll Hall, dangerous 31-year-old escaped convict, shifted here today after a motorist reported having given a lift to a man answering his description.

Hall, who is wanted in connection with Monday's $3,000 hold-up, escaped from the provincial mental hospital at Essonville, Oct. 14. He had been transferred there from the B.C. penitentiary where he was serving a 14-year-term for burglary.

Hall was confined to the Wilkinson Road Mental Home in Victoria in 1953 but escaped and made his way across the Strait of Juan de Fuca in a boat. He was recaptured later in Miami, Fla.

Meanwhile, in Vancouver Police Chief Walter Mulligan, handed a vote of confidence by the Vancouver Police Commission, promised his force "would get down to business" today and smash the recent crime wave in the nation's third largest city.

"We've got a job to do and I trust now we can get down to business and apply ourselves to doing some police work," Mulligan said.

Mayor Fred Hume expressed his full confidence in Mulligan's reportedly wobbly administration—Monday after the chief threatened to quit unless the police commission, of which Hume is head, gave him a full vote of confidence.

"Now I've got the vote of confidence... and that's all I want," Mulligan said after the commission decided unanimously Tuesday night to pass the vote.

The squabble which caused Mulligan's threat to resign followed reports of dissension within police ranks during a recent crime wave which has left one murder, an attempted slaying, three bank holdups and one major drug store robbery in its wake.

Even as Mulligan was reassuring Hume he would do his utmost to curb the crime wave, another robbery occurred in Vancouver. Two masked gunmen entered Moran's drug store on Main Street and escaped with about $250. However, the store's proprietor said the bandits did not take narcotics, which reportedly are the basis of the outbreak of crime.

INVITATION

In reference to newspaper reports of low morale and dissension in the police department, Mulligan said it was an open invitation to criminals to begin operations in Vancouver.

Mulligan had earlier demanded the commission to either condone or condemn the newspaper's story, but later said, "They gave me a vote of confidence... that's enough for me."

Meanwhile, Mayor Hume promised an all-out police mobilization to combat the underworld gang which Mulligan said was "taking this city apart." At the same time police intensified their hunt for a dark-haired mystery man wanted for questioning in the bizarre slaying of newspaper printer Robert D. Hopkins.

City police are not overlooking the chance that current crack-down on Vancouver's underworld may force some criminals to seek new fields of operation here.

"All members of the city police have been alerted and are on the lookout for known criminals," Police Chief John Blackstock said today.

It was indicated that city banks have been warned and will take extra precautions against bank robbers who have struck four times in recent days in the mainland city.

Press Gallery Spoon Fed 'Predigested Pap' Says Esquimalt-Saanich MP Maj. Gen. Pearkes

Ottawa press gallery members are being spoon-fed by "predigested pap" in the form of government handouts, and sometimes are rewarded with trips abroad for presenting the government's side of any question.

This was the charge made Tuesday night by Maj.-Gen. G. R. Pearkes, VC, MP Esquimalt-Saanich, speaking before the initial meeting of the new Victoria riding Federal Progressive Conservative Association.

General Pearkes said the Ottawa press corps is "bound by modern Canadian shackles," and that parliamentary correspondents "swallow the government's predigested pap holubolus."

"There are nice rewards for rewriting government handouts," he said. "Former Defense Minister Brooke Claxton used to take frequent trips to Korea, and to Europe, and often a correspondent accompanied him."

"A young newspaperman could have a nice trip abroad, in a cabinet minister's private plane," he said.

"Is our press, under the Liberal government, free?" asked General Pearkes. "Here is an example of the subtle, shadowy manner in which our press is imprisoned."

"Mackenzie King appointed one Ottawa newsmen to the Senate. Liberal governments have appointed others to well-paid plums—government jobs. The government-controlled Canadian Broadcasting Corporation offers high fees for short talks by newsmen whose record and daily work shows them to be safe, from the government viewpoint; not likely to disclose anything in their radio talks which might create hostility to the government at the polls."

General Pearkes said the Liberal administration hires a "large army of information officers in every department. They are paid by you and other taxpayers," he said.

"Their job is to supply facts and figures supporting the government side to any question. You may be sure that no cabinet minister or his staff ever describes the other side, to them the unattractive side."

"So, if a reporter wants facts and figures describing the other side, to enable him to present to his readers both the pros and cons on any subject, he must go dig them out for himself," said General Pearkes.

"And they are often only obtainable from government departments which are more prone to conceal, than to reveal."

"Have we a free press and radio system in Canada?"

He quoted correspondent Austin Cross as saying: "Your pin-up reporter these days, as far as the St. Laurent regime is concerned, is the fellow who sits around playing gin rummy until the government messenger arrives with the daily handout from the official mouthpiece. There are nice rewards in government circles for rewriting such masterpieces."

General Pearkes said a "very wise and experienced diplomat now stationed in Ottawa, who has seen the press really at work in the great news centres of the world such as Washington, Paris, London and Berlin," told him the Ottawa gallery corps were "spoon-fed" by government press releases.

The diplomat believes the press in those capitals mentioned "is free, and would refuse to be bound by modern Canadian shackles," said General Pearkes.

that its place has been taken by an illusion that the Ottawa press gallery is to blame.

"But that hardly excuses General Pearkes, who in a more favorable political climate might by now be enjoying the rich reward of a ministerial post, from repeating gossip picked up from some unnamed diplomat probably at a cocktail party."

"I am sure that on reflection in more sober second thought General Pearkes will be sorry for charging rich rewards are available to Ottawa political reporters if they write favorably of the government."

Mr. Campbell said the charge is "too childish to deserve an answer."

Text of Mr. Campbell's statement:

"It is an old habit of some politicians to blame everybody but themselves for their party's fortunes."

"This disillusionment in General Pearkes is so complete being spoon-fed by government handouts."

General Pearkes quoted Ottawa correspondent Patrick Nicholson as saying: "An unwritten agreement has developed between press gallery correspondents and government officials."

TREATED AS CAD

"Those high in political office talk off the record to the political correspondent, making him their confidante. The press gallery correspondent who gives a version different from the official one soon hears about it, and is treated both by government and by his colleagues as a bit of a cad."

He quoted correspondent Austin Cross as saying: "Your pin-up reporter these days, as far as the St. Laurent regime is concerned, is the fellow who sits around playing gin rummy until the government messenger arrives with the daily handout from the official mouthpiece. There are nice rewards in government circles for rewriting such masterpieces."

General Pearkes said a "very wise and experienced diplomat now stationed in Ottawa, who has seen the press really at work in the great news centres of the world such as Washington, Paris, London and Berlin," told him the Ottawa gallery corps were "spoon-fed" by government press releases.

The diplomat believes the press in those capitals mentioned "is free, and would refuse to be bound by modern Canadian shackles," said General Pearkes.

JUST for the RECORD

TOO GOOD: In Stuttgart, Germany, seven men were brought to trial here on counterfeiting charges yesterday.

Authorities said they were caught because the counterfeit five-mark ($1.19) pieces they were making were of better quality than the legitimate ones.

SECOND CHOICE: In Santa Monica, Calif., Carol T. Torrens, 63, won an uncontested divorce from his 39-year-old wife, Harriet, because Prince, their pet terrier, replaced him in his wife's affections.

"We bought the dog as a family pet," Torrens told Judge Allen T. Lynch yesterday, "but when Prince decided to sleep in our bed I asked my wife to choose between me and the dog."

"She chose the dog."

BUT NICELY: In San Francisco officials of the new $14,000,000 air port terminal discovered a new feature in the lavish structure after the first rain of the season.

The roof leaks.

THRILLING: In San Francisco William E. Ditch, 23, of Oakland, roared across the Golden Gate Bridge and downtown San Francisco at 90 miles an hour yesterday.

"I was just trying to give you a thrill," he told police who finally caught him and booked him on charges of speeding, reckless driving and attempting to evade arrest.

JOKER: In Baton Rouge, La., Michael Hamilton called in police yesterday after a prankster sent him a lady seeking her lost dog, a hearse to pick up a body, and a repairman to adjust his talking tank.

While he talked to police a truck drove up and the driver said: "I've come for the dead horse."

MP Glimpses Anti-Liberal Vote Trend

Conservative MP General G. R. Pearkes, V.C., believes Monday's by-elections in the East reflected a trend away from the Liberal party, and favorable to the Conservatives.

The Esquimalt-Saanich MP said the result of the Selkirk riding in Manitoba was "expected." William (Scotty) Bryce, CCF, was elected in the seat the Liberals took from him in the last general election.

"In Ontario, the results indicated a trend in the reduction of the Liberal majorities," said General Pearkes. "This was especially noticeable in Stormont," a Liberal seat since 1935.

The Liberal candidate, Albert Lavigne, was elected in Stormont, a riding close to the controversial St. Lawrence Seaway project, but the Liberal vote was cut from a plurality of 6,000 to a scant 337.

"In all the other ridings the Liberals' majority was reduced," said General Pearkes.

In York West, the one seat out of six taken by the Tories, John Hamilton, P.C., was elected with a majority even larger than that given last year to Conservative Rodney Adamson, killed in the April 8 crash of an airliner at Moose Jaw.

"However, we all know that not much importance can be attached to by-election results," said General Pearkes. "But it would appear there is a definite trend."

Legalities Traced to 1902 Pact May Stop Votes for Municipalities

Approval of the Carnegie Foundation in the United States may be required before the city proceeds further with the suggestion of having Victoria Public Library made a metropolitan library, owned and operated by the four Greater Victoria municipalities on a partnership basis.

City Solicitor Arthur Patton advised City Council Tuesday that at present it was not legally possible for the city to move in that direction. He said the city must abide by terms of a deed of trust, dating back to 1902, when U.S. industrial philanthropist Andrew Carnegie donated $50,000 for building the library here.

He made the gift on the understanding that the city would provide a suitable site and maintain the library to the extent of $5,000 a year.

LEGAL POSITION
Mr. Patton's conclusion: "I would say that Mr. Carnegie reposed his confidence in the Victoria City Council and no other body, and while the City Council may delegate the management to a library board to manage the library under statutory authority, it could not under the present law divest itself of its supreme authority to a board composed in part of members of outside municipalities."

At the same time, Mr. Patton acknowledged that the Carnegie trust might be disposed of by special legislation of the provincial government.

The mayor, however, was not in favor of this course.

"You can do almost anything by legislation," he said, "but if you do, you run the risk that perhaps nobody will ever again leave anything in trust to the city."

He suggested applying to the Carnegie Foundation to have conditions of the original trust enlarged so that neighboring municipalities would share the responsibility.

Council debated for a time what procedure should be taken as a first step: Whether to approach the Carnegie Foundation first and the neighboring municipalities second, or vice versa.

Ald. Arthur Dowell said the matter of how a union library could be created was "being labored too much." He said he saw no reason why the matter could not be done simply "if we just had a meeting with the municipalities and used a little common sense."

"LEGAL CABBAGE"
Ald. Robert Macmillan, who suggested the union library scheme two weeks ago, said Mr. Patton's reference to the 1902 trust was "a little bit of legal cabbage—fogging up the issue."

"I'm quite sure the Carnegie people would agree with what we are trying to do," he said, "because it is only carrying further what was the original idea of Mr. Carnegie."

Outside municipalities have asked to have voting representation on the library board but have not yet considered the plan for going into the library on a full partnership basis.

Council referred the matter to its finance committee to plan the next step.

'You Look Sharp' McCarthy Greeting

WASHINGTON (UP)—Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis.) told Britain's Queen Mother Elizabeth Wednesday she looked "sharp" and the affable royal visitor replied "... so kind."

It happened at the British embassy's giant reception for the Queen Mother.

When the controversial Wisconsin senator and his pretty blonde wife, Jean, were presented to the Queen Mother, McCarthy told her she looked "sharp." He asked her how she was "holding up" under the strain of her crowded schedule and lengthy handshaking or deal.

"Everyone is being so kind," the Queen Mother told the senator.

He will spend two days here, conferring with Defense Minister Ralph Campney and the chiefs of staff, and he will pay a call on Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent.

NEW B.C. TAX PLAN BLAMED FOR CLOSING DOWN 18 MINES

VANCOUVER (CP)—Eighteen mines in British Columbia have been forced to close down since the provincial government amended the tax structure in 1952, a spokesman for the B.C. mining industry said here Tuesday.

B. C. Roper, president of the B.C. Mining Association and head of Britannia Mining & Smelting Co. Ltd., told a closed meeting of the organization that 18 mines have already suspended operations and "alarming" reports of the closure of other important mines next year were at hand.

Medical Facts Prove No Ordinary Laxative In The World Gives Such Complete Relief As MILK OF MAGNESIA!

Milk of Magnesia is more than a laxative! That's why it does more for you—brings you better relief.

It's an established medical fact that when you're suffering from constipation, acid indigestion is frequently present, too. Yes—acid indigestion—a condition that requires relief, but which no simple laxative can even begin to relieve.

What Is A Laxative?
As your own doctor can tell you, a laxative is a mild cathartic used to cleanse the system of wastes.

Now, note that a laxative is not an antacid. It's simply a mild cathartic. And that's why it has no effect whatever on acidity... why it brings you only partial relief when taken for constipation and accompanying acid indigestion.

But there's no need for you to be satisfied with partial relief. For Milk of Magnesia gives you better relief—more complete relief—than any ordinary laxative.

Why Milk of Magnesia Is Better!
Milk of Magnesia does more for you because it's more than a laxative. It's an antacid, too. As a result, it not only relieves constipation, but accompanying acid indigestion as well.

Yes—and Milk of Magnesia also gives you So Gentle For Children... So Thorough For Grownups

10c TO $350 MILLION CREDIT UNION RECORD

LEVIS, Que. (CP)—A French-Canadian economic organization that started in 1900 with a deposit of 10 cents and now has a capital stock estimated at $350,000,000 in Quebec province alone, celebrated the 100th anniversary of its founder's birth Tuesday night.

Alphonse Desjardins, one-time newspaper man and House of Commons stenographer, founded America's first caisse populaire (credit union) at the beginning of the 20th century. Before he died he saw it spread across Quebec and into neighboring provinces.

Was Hopkins Death Murder By Mistake?

VANCOUVER (CP)—Murder by mistake was one unofficial theory which Tuesday night linked the slaying of Robert Hopkins, middle-aged printer, to two other recent gangland shootings.

Police said it was possible that Hopkins was mistaken for an acquaintance who was working unofficially on the slaying of Danny Brent.

Brent, liquor club head waiter, was found slain on an outlying golf course and his murder blamed by police on warring drug factions.

An acquaintance of Brent, William (Bill) the Painter Semick, was shot and wounded in 1,000-acre Stanley Park. He refused to name his assailants and

Queen Mary Crew Abandons Plans For Strike Action

SOUTHAMPTON, Eng. (AP)—Crew members of the Queen Mary today abandoned their threat to strike over assignment of a new master to command the 81,000-ton liner when it brings Queen Mother Elizabeth home from New York.

They went to their stations for boat muster in the usual way. Then they told reporters that, having registered their protest, they would carry the matter no further.

The giant liner will leave Southampton for New York Thursday with Commodore Ivan Thompson, senior commanding officer of the Cunard fleet, on the bridge. Thompson is replacing the Queen Mary's regular master, Captain Donald Sorrell, for this round trip.

Murals by Zach Pupils In Logan Mayhew Show

Three modern Victoria artists are currently showing murals representing advance of the automotive industry, at Vancouver art gallery until December 5.

They are Mrs. Lillian Rogers, Margaret Longridge and Robert Prayda, all students of Jan Zach. The show was commissioned by Logan Mayhew, president of National Motors, and is being sponsored in Vancouver by Charles E. Thompson, president of Vancouver Motors.

England Defeats Wales at Soccer

LONDON (AP)—Roy Bentley of England scored three goals in the mist and fog of Wembley Stadium today before 100,000 fans to defeat Wales 3-2 in an international soccer match.

John Charles, Wales' great centre forward, scored both Welsh goals. At one point in the thrilling match only nine Welsh players were left on the field. But they held the 11 Englishmen scoreless for 15 minutes until their injured could get back into the game.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senator Arthur Watkins told Senator Joseph McCarthy today the only way to get a completely neutral person on the issue would be to pick "a deaf, dumb and blind person and a moron."

Watkins, head of the special committee which recommended censure of the Wisconsin Republican, made the comment after McCarthy suggested there was prejudice on the committee.

Watkins, Utah Republican, laid his committee's conclusions on the case for censure before the Senate. McCarthy promptly challenged that "You are not giving the facts as they are."

From there, they swung into a long exchange which revolved chiefly about McCarthy's conduct in relation to a Senate elections subcommittee which looked into his financial affairs in 1951 and 1952.

McCarthy had told the Senate the Communist party has made an "unwitting handmaiden" of a Senate committee and "extended its tentacles" to the Senate itself.

He let go with both barrels in a prepared speech as the upper chamber formally opened its historic censure debate.

NUMBER ONE AIM

The number one objective of the Communist party in the United States is the "destruction" of McCarthy, he declared. In this campaign, he charged, the Watkins committee became the party's "involuntary agent."

"In the course of the Senate debate I shall demonstrate," he continued, "that the Watkins committee . . . not only co-operated in the achievement of Communist goals but that in writing its report it imitated Communist methods—that it distorted, misrepresented and omitted in its effort to manufacture a plausible rationalization for advising the Senate to accede to the clamor for my scalp."

LIBS PREPARE FOR 1956 VOTE

VANCOUVER (CP)—An official of the B.C. Liberal party said Tuesday his party will start immediately on the job of building a new platform in expectation of a 1956 election in the province.

The official said a B.C. election was expected that year on the assumption that there would be a federal election the same year.

Indo-China Reds Rush To Cut Off Refugee Horde

SAIGON, Indo-China (UP)—The Communist Viet Minh has rushed two regiments to the north Viet Nam coast to cut off 20,000 to 40,000 Catholic and Buddhist refugees seeking to flee-by-sea from Communist terror, it was reported here today.

The Red move was reported shortly after India joined Canada against Communist Poland in rejecting Viet Minh protests against French naval aid being rushed to the panicky refugees who are fleeing-by-sea in makeshift boats.

The three nations are members of the International Armistice Control Commission overseeing the truce in Indo-China. Today's vote marked the first time India backed Canada against the Communists since the commission began its duties.

MASS MIGRATION

Seven French warships are steaming to pick up natives reported fleeing seaward from Communist-controlled north Viet Nam in the second mass migration from Red territory.

The International Commission, acting on French protests, ruled that French warships could enter Communist Viet Minh territorial waters and aid the refugees who preferred to take their chances at sea in makeshift boats and rafts rather than live under Red rule.

One French ship, rescued 4,000 refugees from a sandbank off the coast below Haiphong where they were threatened by a rising tide.

The French warships were the small aircraft carrier Bois Bellou, on loan from the American navy, the 4,300-ton fleet repair ship Jerusalem, the transports Pertuisane and Pimodan and three landing craft.

PM Reiterates Position on Employment

OTTAWA (BUP)—Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent today told the Canadian and Catholic Confederation of Labor he thought their fears of increasing unemployment this winter were exaggerated.

For the second time in two days the prime minister told a labor delegation here the government does not expect this year's winter slump in employment to be as bad as that of last winter.

He spoke in French to the officers of the union after secretary Jean Marchand had read a brief to the cabinet calling for a "dynamic program of public works." The union claimed unemployment was critical in most provinces.

Bay Village Mayor Tells Court Sheppard Called Him a Suspect

By H. D. QUIGG

CLEVELAND, O. (UP)—Mayor J. Spencer Houk of Bay Village told on the witness stand today how Dr. Samuel H. Sheppard had pointed the finger of suspicion at him as the bludgeon-murderer of Sheppard's wife, Marilyn.

Houk, who had been a close friend and neighbor of the Sheppards before the July 4 murder, testified he had pleaded with the husband to confess "if he had done it."

He said Sheppard replied he could not have done it and instead told him there was an "interest" in him as a suspect.

The state accuses the 30-year-old osteopath-surgeon of beating his wife to death after a quarrel over his attentions to other women, particularly to Susan Hayes, 24, a red-haired laboratory technician.

Testifying for the second day as a state witness, the slow-speaking, deep-voiced mayor also told how Dr. Sheppard and his brother, Stephen, also a doctor, had come to him with a psychiatrist's idea that a schizophrenic who was "a close personal friend" of Marilyn might have committed the crime.

The psychiatrist, who was not identified in court, was of the opinion that this person had had Marilyn "up on a pedestal," Houk testified. Then, when he learned that she was to have a baby, in his mind "his goddess had been destroyed, so he gets the urge to kill."

Not long after the crime, Dr. Alan Moritz, head of the Western Reserve University pathology department, had proposed a lie detector test and use of truth serum on the husband. Sheppard had refused both. He said he did not want the truth serum because he feared he might implicate some innocent person.

The By-Elections

LAST MONDAY NIGHT THE polling clerks counted ballots in six House of Commons by-elections. At the same hour Premier Bennett was in Saskatoon announcing that the Liberal Party was at its weakest point since Confederation—a shell of its once-great power.

Mr. Bennett evidently has a lot to learn about federal politics. The St. Laurent Government won four out of the six by-elections—two seats in Quebec and two in Ontario. It lost Selkirk, Manitoba, a traditional C.C.F. constituency, to a veteran and respected socialist, Mr. W. A. Bryce. The Conservative party as usual held York West, a suburb of Toronto. And nowhere did the Social Credit Party dare to show its head.

The half dozen tests revealed no discernible trend in public opinion. Except for the change in Selkirk, the House of Commons line-up has not been affected.

When the voters of six representative areas have the chance to reduce the Government's huge legislative majority they reply, as plainly as by-elections permit, that they are satisfied with the existing administration; or at least that they see no better alternative.

This result is remarkable, for governments are normally at their lowest ebb a year or so after they have won a general election. Moreover, they are always at a serious disadvantage in by-elections because their existence is not at stake and the voters can afford to discipline them without risking any change in national policy.

Canadian voters at this point evidently see no reason to discipline the St. Laurent Government. Perhaps it would have been better for Parliament and for the Government itself if the by-elections had turned out differently and pricked the complacency which afflicts all successful cabinets. At all events, the local electors have flatly denied what Mr. Bennett said in Saskatoon.

The clear fact thus demonstrated is that no great issue is presently agitating the Canadian people. In sharp contrast to their American neighbors, they seem to find no cause for serious alarm and none for a change in government. And this, too, is remarkable when the Liberal Party, with an interregnum of five years during the great depression, has been in office since 1921.

Even admitting that Canada in this long period has been well governed, that the St. Laurent Government is one of the ablest in our history and that the Prime Minister bestrides our politics like a friendly colossus, it is still remarkable that no opposition group has been able to find a winning issue or even to construct a truly national party with strength in all parts of the country—remarkable and deplorable.

Our two-party system has broken down, the opposition is splintered into three impotent factions, Parliament is weakened and so is the whole democratic process. The Government cannot be blamed for this condition, since it is the normal and proper ambition of governments to win elections. The blame lies with the opposition parties, and their futility lies in the single fact that they have been unable, since 1930, to propose an understandable policy of any sort.

Mr. Bennett, of course, thinks that Social Credit has such a policy and, by his recent activities, shows that he feels himself able to carry that policy into Ottawa. When he had finished speaking in Saskatoon and read the election returns he must have realized that he has a long way to go.

More People, More Employment

THE PERENNIAL COMPLAINT of some sections of labor, that immigrants are taking jobs which should be filled by Canadian workers, is again being heard, and it appears to have had some influence on the Federal Government.

The Winnipeg Free Press notes that latest reports show immigration to this country to be decreasing. This year the number of new arrivals will total about 160,000, compared with 168,000 last year. For next year, predictions set the probable figure at 140,000 to 150,000. There appears to be a conscious attempt, as a result of protests registered in the political sphere, to impose stricter limitations on the influx of new residents.

However, in apparently making a minor concession to labor's argument, the Government has not lost sight of the basic principle involved, which is that immigration creates jobs rather than taking them from native-born workers. The thousands of new Canadians bring new skills for production, new demands for what is produced. Each shipload of newcomers requires butchers and bakers and electricity makers to provide for its needs.

A Chance to Give, or Give More

GREATER VICTORIA'S COMMUNITY Chest collections to date stand roughly 10 per cent below the 1954 objective.

Contributions this year have been slightly larger in total than those of 1953 for the similar period of the campaign, but they are still not enough to guarantee uninterrupted or unrestricted operation of the 17 member agencies financed in whole or in part by the Red Feather drive.

Officials of the campaign have noted the fact that all who wish to

All this spells more employment. Were it not so, Canada's peak of prosperity must have been reached with the first settlers since all later arrivals, according to the argument, have merely taken employment from the original inhabitants. Such an argument answers itself.

In the present situation the Government, through Immigration Minister Pickersgill, has been able to point out the fallacy of complaints against immigration. The two "soft spots" in the Canadian economy at the moment are in textile production and the manufacture of farm machinery. Yet the unemployment of workers in these industries is not due to their jobs having been taken by new Canadians.

It is due, as Mr. Pickersgill explains, to the fact that the jobs themselves have disappeared for the time being—in textiles because of larger factors which have led to the closing of mills; in farm implements because of the lack of customers among farmers who are experiencing a reduction in their purchasing power. That is a situation which immigration is more likely to relieve than aggravate.

give have not yet been reached by canvassers. An appeal has been made to such citizens to inform the Community Chest headquarters of their willingness to contribute. With that assurance, an official will make a special call to receive a donation.

This may help to shrink the gap between collections to date and the amount the Chest seeks for the full operation of agencies next year. It should also provide an opportunity for those who wish to give more to supplement the contributions they have already made.

Royalty and the Drug Store

THE QUEEN MOTHER HAS visited and has been amazed by that great American institution, the drug store.

The source of her surprise has been the variety of goods for sale in the particular centre she found during a tour of the Pentagon. In contrast to the limited supplies of an English chemist's shop, she has found for sale such things as books, records, toys and household goods, in addition to medicines and other articles of the trade.

This, in itself, must have been an educative experience for the Queen Mother. Yet it probably lacked the important sociological aspects she might have noted had she visited the corner drug store of any established town on this continent.

For the drug store is not only a merchandizing centre with a catholicity of stock. It is a social centre important in the moulding of North American youth. It is the gathering place for the teen-agers, the bobby-soxers and their escorts, at the soda fountain, the forum of adolescent debate, often noisily raised above the din of the juke box. It is an influence, for better or for worse, on American youth in its formative years.

Understanding the drug store, the Queen Mother might have gained a better appreciation of American character—a character which flowers in the adult generously inclined to share the equivalent of a chocolate malt with anyone who seems to need the equivalent of a chocolate malt.

Two Minutes' Silence Might Help

Chips

BY DAVID BROCK

EACH YEAR around this time, around Remembrance Day, I remember with great pain and anger all the men who have spoken or written during the year about how the dead died in vain in the last two wars, as if they had died for better houses or for the abolition of human folly or for something of that sort. What they were doing, of course, was simply acting as special constables engaged in a fight with hooliganism. Hooliganism and zoot-suitery on an international scale. This truth is so obvious and so simple that most people do not understand it. Anyone who has brought himself up on lies is not only unwilling but unable to recognize the truth when he sees it.

It is true that there is always a terrific waste of life, both in conducting wars and in failing to prevent them. In a world even half-perfect, peopled by even half-perfect men, these tragic wastes could not occur. But the prevalence of hooliganism does not mean that the dead were killed entirely in vain when they put down one outburst of the disease, and then another outburst. And the more their deaths were made necessary by the failure of the living, the more the living should very humbly remember that this increases our debt instead of diminishing it.

It is more heroic to die in saving a drunken scoundrel, who has got into peril through his own fault, than to die while saving something a little more valuable. And they saved more than just saving a parcel of old fools. Part of Remembrance Day is remembering what they saved. Not saved permanently, but saved for another chance. Beating off a burglar or a slave-trader does not guarantee your health and prosperity for life. But it is worth doing anyhow, and if your neighbors get killed in helping you, and in helping themselves, you are in their debt for life, no matter what happens next.

REMEMBRANCE

In writing to Cynthia Asquith about her brother, Ivo Charteris, who was killed in action on October 17, 1915, the late Professor Sir Walter Raleigh said: "I suppose the old things are true, even if they seem to be of no use. I feel more and more that the dead, not the living, are winning this war. They give the future, and won't touch it themselves, because it would spoil the gift."

In another letter of that period, writing on the death of his young friend Julian Grenfell, who wrote "Into Battle," Raleigh said: "No evil could ever happen to the writer of that poem. He is a wonder. He accepted and rejoiced in both the means and the End. He lived in Eternity, which is a manner of living, not a length of life. Our extra days seem poor things. We all pass on fortunately. Words are no use; the live glorious complete thing that is a splendid human history is too much for them. It's over; but there is some standard other than our feeding and breathing, or even than our memory; and if we could only see it, nothing has perished. Our weakness cries for comfort, and I dare not try to think how you will learn to do with Julian, day by day. But I love to think how lightly he would talk of his own death, if we could hear his voice."

"It was the Civil War Duke of Ormonde who said, when someone offered him pity, that he would rather have his dead son than any living son in Christendom. That is true for you."

ACTING OUR PART

WHEN Raleigh was talking about length of life just now, and of more breathing and eating, he was perhaps thinking (consciously or not) of a passage written by Lord Shaftesbury (3rd Earl of, 1671-1713). Raleigh was an expert on that period, and he also spent many a summer voyage with Pearsall Smith, who quotes the passage in his Treasury of English Aphorisms and who certainly got tips from Raleigh. The passage is this: "The measure of a happy life is not from the fewer or more Suns we behold, the fewer or more Breaths we draw, or Meals we repeat; but from the having once lived well, acted our Part handsomely, and made our Exit cheerfully, and as became us."

ACTING our part handsomely, and doing things cheerfully (including dying), and as becomes us! Have we lost this art? In peacetime we almost certainly have, but twice in my lifetime, and three times in the lives of men not much older than myself, there has come a war to show that our young men are not so churlish and graceless and full of self-pity as they wish to seem. And it is because war offers the supreme chance to act Lord Shaftesbury's part well that it can have rather dangerous attractions. And as long as you deny the very real merits and attractions of war, you will never get rid of war.

It might easily be (though I am not able to say so with any finality) that if we acted our part handsomely in peacetime, as became us, we might not have so many wars. I don't know. It is worth thinking about. But in any event, Remembrance Day is not the time to say that handsome actions are in vain. No day is the day to say that, but Remembrance Day least of all.

The other day we were ordering Christmas books for the children and my wife said: "Here is one called 'One Hundred Great Lives.' I said maybe it was no good at all. She said 'Perhaps not. But I'd like the children to know that great lives are possible. They are not told to very often. They are hardly ever tempted to behave well. I don't want them to keep saying 'No future in it' all their lives.'"

A THOUGHT FOR REMEMBRANCE DAY

The Trees Are All Young on Garrison Hill

From The Times (London)

THE trees are all young on Garrison Hill, and in Naga Village children are playing. The wet earth and sprouting shrubs have the same spring-fresh smell. And there is no stench. Grass-filled foxholes still mark forgotten lanes and some rusty ration tins and leather straps have escaped a decade of scavengers.

Beneath the Hill lie the graves. One thousand three hundred and eighty-seven of them, in orderly, impersonal, endless rows. In this geometrical panorama there is no heartbreak, no rebuke, no regret. It is a design of peace, the pious peace that follows war, the revulsive peace of "Never Again." It is the mute attempt to express the inexpressible by those who, helpless, are left behind.

It has the same conscious inadequacy as the "Remarks" column in the Visitors' Book, where a sudden embarrassment catches the pen which has written smoothly the name and address and then stumbles on an anti-climatic "Very impressive" or "A fitting resting place for heroes." But one ex-soldier had written in a flash of perceptiveness, "I wish my name were here."

PARTING MESSAGES

Yet the heartbreak is there. On this bronze plate or that is written the parting message of those who loved. Some are inspired; some are simple and heartfelt; some are superstitious; some, like the blank spaces in the Visitor's Book, are stifled, to silence by the despair of incomprehension. But, mute or vocal, all concern those who speak, and we are left wondering what may be the response of those who are gone before. Do they know too much to keep their treasures in the crumbling storehouses of memory? Or do they go on, unforgetful, yet untrammelled by past happiness? Killed in Action, April 18, 1944. Aged 27. "Good night, Daddy." Killed in Action, April 21, 1944. Aged 29. "A very parrot gentill knight." Killed in Action, May 5, 1944. Aged 35. "Beatate memoriae: quis nos separabit?" Killed in Action, May 6, 1944. Aged 23. "Our only beloved son, who died that freedom might live." Statistics can be comforting. Fifty thousand rupees; 200 saplings; 36 tons of cement; 1,387 graves; and 10 years.

LESSON OF KOREA

In my recent reading, the statement appeared, that the undeclared war in Korea; destroyed 75 per cent of Korean cities; killed or crippled millions of Korean families; killed or crippled 150,000 American youth; and cost the American taxpayer 15 billion dollars.

Can the above be verified, and if so was this destruction justified? Did it accomplish its object—the suppression of Communism—and the betterment of the social condition of that nation; or of those that advocated war as the remedy?

The answer is self evident, yet the rearmament race continues. If any good has come from it all, it is the fact that the weaknesses of the opposing ideologies have been exposed for all to see, and the only rational means to secure just solutions of international problems is by negotiation at the council table.

SEPARATE SCHOOLS ANACHRONISMS

It is becoming more apparent hourly that since 1914—or perhaps before—something happened which could aptly be described as "time marches backwards."

The question of separate schools has been yeasting in Canada for quite a long time and is indicative of the narrowing of the mind synchronizing with the attempt that is being made to abolish all free and Liberal thought. Separate schools are an anachronism. Public schools grant the possibility of a liberal education in keeping with the times of today for all children whose parents so desire it.

Neither religion nor chauvinism should be allowed to be taught within its doors. There are so many religions which are also business enterprises and in consequence have a political influence so that no government of the people can possibly differentiate between them. It is logical that providing the public schools, for all, as much as can be expected from the taxpayers until a different form of revenue can be invented.

If there is of course any branch of religion that feels that it should not, or could not, allow its following to mingle with the broad outlook, there is nothing in the law to prevent them running their own private schools at their own expense.

It would seem timely that an investigation should be made into the subject matter as to how many wealthy religious institutions are claiming, and receiving, tax exemptions? It cannot be disputed but what they are part and parcel of the varied profession. The burden of taxtion on the general public is now taking on an uneasy balance and should be cleared of all the parasitical growth that has been accumulating through the years. Tax exemptions, subsidies and subtle, or brazen, special privileges both at home and abroad are proving a smoke screen that is both impeding and weakening the progress of social justice.

As Our Readers See It

ELLEN HART.

Chipperfield Farm, East Sooke.

REMEMBRANCE

Once again we approach Remembrance Day, and with all the flowers and ceremony I am quite in accord.

But, the question is, have we, as individuals, and as a nation, have we learnt anything from it yet?

What is one of the great causes of war? Is it not the differentiation of the standards of living? Is that not the root of much of our trouble? It is not about time that we did something with all our abundance, to uplift others who are not so fortunate?

It is recorded in the New Testament that a poor cripple waited for 38 years for someone to help him into the healing waters of the pool of Bethesda—St. John V. And for 38 years (it will soon be a generation) we have evaded the ultimate remedy!

We, as Christians, followers of Christ, must help the poor, the impotent folk, the blind, the halt and the withered, who are waiting for the moving of the waters! Lip service is not enough; while there is yet time, we the haves, must help the have-nots.

The Bishop of Sheffield (and I love to quote him) said, "they are false who say that it is only a man's soul that the Church should be interested in. The Church should be interested in politics, and the welfare of the working man, Church and state must work in unison. Christ said, 'Feed my sheep.' Thank God today that we have men with backbone who are not afraid to speak the truth! Divine truth.

panted upward behind the nimble bare-foot urchin to the place which I knew before he was born.

The wail of the bagpipes from the As-sam Rifles' barracks on the ridge below was almost too timely a background to reverie. So, too, was the bugle sounding reveille when, stumbling through the thickets in the mist of a rainy dawn, I looked for ghosts and found none.

MISTS SWEPT CLEAR

We are the ghosts, called forth by our own memories, investing each impersonal inch of soil with our own personal meanings; these meanings our self-conjured mists in which, wraithlike, we startle only ourselves.

But as the mists are swept clear of the heights above by the rushing winds of an oncoming monsoon, there, where we stare uncomprehendingly at the sudden call for vision—still too sudden, too fleeting, but unutterably certain—is the great meaning we seek. For the trees are all young on Garrison Hill, and in Naga Village children are playing.

ALTERING HISTORY

I no longer believe, as I did when I was very young, that I could alter the course of history. But I do still believe that life would lose its spice and sparkle unless one tried to alter history to the best of one's ability and according to one's conscience. What, after all, is democracy but the outcome of the individual attempts to do just that?

—Vernon Bartlett, BBC broadcaster.

THIRTY

I sat opposite a woman in a railway carriage once. I was with a friend and we had a wonderful time catching up with each other's news. The time passed like a flash, until suddenly this woman put down her book, made a horrible face at us, and said "Yap! yap! yap!" and walked out of the carriage! We somehow hadn't the heart to talk much after that!

—Kaye Webb, author and journalist.

Are We Failures?

THE highly-enjoyable Canadian-Scottish game dinner here Saturday night was enlivened by a monologue on Victoria's manners and mores by a peripatetic observer of these parts. His thesis, briefly stated, was that we Victorians were all failures.

In a brilliant exercise in civic masochism, he argued that Victoria was the resting-place of Canada's neuroses. "Organized mediocrity," he harumphed, pausing the while to brace himself for the fray with a potent belt of spirits.

"Look at us," he said. "We're perfectly content to settle for second-best in civic and provincial politics."

"Our few industrialists wish they had never built here in the first place. Vancouver has passed us by. They can't get over the freight-rate hurdle and there's nothing they can do about it."

"Now, Lord help us, even little Nanaimo is taking business away from us. It's the ultimate embarrassment. We're dying on the vine."

"Our symphony and our Arts Centre reflect the timid excursions of the talented-untaunted. We travel all the time as a form of escapism."

"Our newspaper writers are no good, or they would be writing for the Montreal Gazette and the New York Times. Our authors produce cheap pot-boilers. Our singers win honorable mention but never first place. That's us—an 'honorable mention' town."

"Victoria, in 100 years, has produced one good artist, and what did he do with her? We laughed at her pictures until New York and Toronto convinced us they were good. By the time we got around to appreciating her work, we couldn't afford it."

"Look around you, and listen to the talk."

Keate

The young business men—those with any ambition—are living for the day when their banks and bond houses will recall them to Bay Street. The old business men spend all their time sitting around the nineteenth hole, talking about their great days in St. James Street.

"Let's face it—we're a community of has-beens and never-wases. Somebody give me a drink before I break down."

To their undying credit, his table-companions greeted this lugubrious effusion with loud chortles. For a bunch of broken-down hulks, they were remarkably cheerful.

To start with, (one of them said) every person was to greater or lesser degree, a failure. What constituted success?

Was it to be found in New York or Montreal or Toronto, where the pay was high but wouldn't buy anything? Where it took an hour on the train, frequently through blizzards, to reach an office? Where one couple in every three was divorced, where office politics were manipulated with meat cleavers, and where gangland shootings provided the daily diet of headlines?

Or could it be found in Victoria, where every man had his garden and traded in his wife only every 40 years or so? Where you could catch salmon, stalk deer, or play golf within a few minutes of your office? Where the newspapers carried items about a man who was arrested for the heinous crime of driving his car without water in the radiator?

Listening to this debate, I was reminded of a sentence in the foreword to that brilliant book, "Dangerous River," which has just been produced by R. M. Patterson of Sidney:

"Our attempt (to find gold in the Nahanni Valley) failed, so this must also be the story of a failure—but it was a failure that succeeded in so many other ways that, if life could be entirely filled with such defeats, if for one would never ask for any victory."

YOUR HEALTH

By DR. WALTER C. ALVAREZ

What To Do for a Stroke

Dr. Alvarez is Emeritus Consultant in Medicine, Mayo Clinic and Emeritus Professor of Medicine, Mayo Foundation.

A million people want to know what to do for their stroke, or for their parent's stroke. Fortunately, in many cases, especially of the little strokes, the person will get well or almost well in a few days or weeks, without any medicine. I have seen many a person who, unable in the morning to say a word or to move an arm or leg, by evening was talking and walking about. I have seen many other cases in which, although the person quickly recovered the power of speech, he never quite recovered the use of the palsied arm, or of his "rubbery legs."

The patients I feel most anxious about are the ones whose character and personality are so changed that they can no longer enjoy life or live comfortably and amicably with their fellows, or go back to their work.

As I said, usually there is a marked spontaneous tendency to improvement, which can bring surprising results, usually in the first six months or a year after the stroke. After that, I doubt if the person can hope for much change. What happens after a stroke may be, first, some quick clearing away of shock, together with the return of function in some brain cells which were only injured and not killed. Recovery follows, also with a clearing out of edema or water from the neighborhood of the injured spot in the brain. The circulation may improve; and gradually through the months, messages may perhaps be re-routed through the brain around the injured area.

CORTISONE MAY HELP

According to some doctors, injections of cortisone given right after the stroke will help the person to recover quickly. Later this will be useless. For a while some neurologists were injecting a local anesthetic into a sympathetic ganglion in the neck hoping to help matters by causing a dilation of arteries in the brain. I never could see any sense in this, first, because the best evidence indicates that the injection does not dilate the arteries; and second, because within some 10 minutes after the plugging or rupture of an artery the little area of brain which got its blood from that particular vessel is dead, and can never be made to function again.

As a man lies breathing stertorously after a big stroke, little can be done except to support life with good nursing, and perhaps cortisone, and an extra supply of oxygen. If a pneumonia starts, it must be combated with antibiotics. Usually food should not be given except by a stomach tube because much of it is likely to go into the lungs; there to cause serious trouble.

After a week or two, if trouble with speech persists, a speech teacher can help the patient to learn words again. A good book on treating Aphasia, or the inability to speak, is called Aphasia Therapeutics and was written by Mary C. Longrich and Jean-Bordeaux (MacMillan).

If paralysis or weaknesses persist, a good nurse can show the family how to avoid contractions and deformities, and the coming of bed sores. A good physiotherapist, with her massage and exercises, can help greatly by keeping weakened muscles in good shape. Later, she will teach the patient how to get out of bed, and onto a wheel-chair or onto crutches.

The person with a stroke must not be left uncared for. He may have to be taught to get along with his left hand, washing and dressing and feeding himself. The more independent of others he can become, the happier he will be. Especially during the first six months he must keep up hope—hope that he will be one of those many fortunate persons who get most of their strength and speech back.

As a medicine I give a tablet or two of lipiodol each day. It helps to clear up the condition in the brain.

WHAT IS A SCHIZOPHRENIC

Unhappy people with a mentally disturbed relative keep asking, "What is a schizophrenic, or a catatonic, or a paranoid schizophrenic?" The commonest type of psychosis or disturbance of the mind is schizophrenia. Translated from the Greek, this means a split personality. The common term used a few years ago was dementia praecox, praecox meaning early in life. A hebephrenic schizophrenic is one who is much slowed-up mentally. A catatonic is one who stays for hours in one position, like a statue; and a paranoid is a man who is always suspicious of everyone. He thinks that everything that is done by people around him or even by people on the street or in the next farmhouse a mile away is being done to plague him or injure him. He is sure his quiet little harmless wife is being unfaithful to him.

A schizoid person is one who inherited only part of the picture. He has a shy, retiring, undemonstrative and unaffectionate disposition. Such a person may go through life never even looking at the people he passes in the halls and on the street. Touch him on the arm and he may recoil as if burned by a hot iron.

The world is full of schizoid and mildly schizophrenic persons who never have to go into a mental hospital. Many suffer all their days, trying to figure out why they have to endure life on this earth.

SYNOPSIS—Shower activity persisted along the coast through most of the night as the remnants of the low pressure which was offshore for several days finally moved into the interior. However, another Pacific storm is moving rapidly into the coast and the unsettled weather will be maintained through most of today and Thursday on the coast.

Over the interior skies will be mainly cloudy both today and Thursday but very little precipitation is expected since the Pacific storms will weaken rapidly as they cross the coastal mountains. Temperatures will continue fairly mild except in the far north of B.C. where cold arctic air will keep temperatures well below freezing.

VLC Will Contest Vancouver Elections
VANCOUVER (CP)—Vancouver Labor Council (VLC) voted Tuesday night to contest the civic elections here next December.

VLC delegates named Vic W. Forster, council secretary-treasurer, to run as alderman and named two candidates for both school board and parks board. Council said its campaign would stress the need for an inquiry into large corporations such as B.C. Electric, unequal taxation and public ownership of utilities.

Tales of the First World War, old memories and long-standing jokes will be relived on Thursday night. It will be the annual election meeting of the Red Chevrons Association of Vancouver Island, an organization of veterans who went overseas during the first great conflict.

Members will meet in the auditorium of the Army and Navy Veterans' Club, Wharf Street, at 8 p.m. Thursday for a combined election meeting and smoker.

'SOME MODEST INDEPENDENCE'

Another Life to Live? Einstein Would Be Plumber

NEW YORK (AP)—Dr. Albert Einstein says that if he had to do it all over again he "would not try to become a scientist or scholar or teacher."

"I would rather choose to be a plumber or a peddler in the hope to find that modest degree of independence still available under present circumstances."

The 73-year-old physicist expressed this attitude in a letter published in this week's issue of Reporter magazine. He had been asked for his comment on a recent Reporter article relating to the present situation of American scientists.

Einstein has bitterly opposed congressional inquiries into the political beliefs of scientists and educators.

City Bonds Beat Par; Rate Nipped

The City of Victoria issued its first debentures in two years Tuesday and received more than face value for them.

Two issues with a total par value of $47,683.01 were sold to a syndicate headed by James Richardson & Sons Ltd., for $48,412.97. The bonds cover the cost of local improvement projects undertaken by the city in the year 1952. The debt is to be paid off during the next 15 years by property owners who requested the improvements.

One issue of city bonds, amounting to $30,241.47, carries interest at 4 per cent. The other, for $17,441.54, carries interest at 5 per cent.

Reason for the higher-than-par purchase price is the fact that the current rate for municipal securities of this type is around 4 per cent. Because of the issue allowing 5 per cent interest, the purchaser's above-par price brings the effective yield to 4.05 per cent.

RELIEF PROMISED

For Arthritic and Rheumatic Pain
New relief without pills by greaseless, odourless, stainless cream.

Toronto, Ont. (Special)—Discovery of an entirely new method of relieving pain has been announced here. Science has now developed a cream that acts in a new way to relieve pain deep down in muscles and muscular aches and pains. Sold under the brand name "InfraRUB," this new odourless and greaseless cream relieves these pains without the need of pills and other internal medicines.

InfraRUB does not merely set up a surface irritation but penetrates the "skin barrier"—goes to work to relieve pain deep down in muscles and joints. The bloodstream carries the soothing medication right to the seat of trouble where it actually helps drive away pain-causing congestion and pressure.

Another feature of InfraRUB that appeals to so many people is its ease of application. No long and painful rubbing is necessary as InfraRUB penetrates in a few seconds and vanishes with a moment's light massage. InfraRUB leaves no oily film or pungent objectionable odour on the skin. Users find they are able to put on clothing in complete safety immediately after application.

Written medical reports on the success of this new help for patients suffering from rheumatic and arthritic pains and general muscular aches and pains have been prepared, based on hundreds of cases in British and French hospitals. InfraRUB users claim almost immediate relief from rheumatic and arthritic pains, sore muscles and joints.

Now for the first time, InfraRUB can be obtained without a prescription from your local drug store for only $1.39. InfraRUB is guaranteed to give hours of comforting relief from arthritic, rheumatic and muscular aches and pains or your money refunded in full.

C. Saanich Council Setting Road Policy

Will Recommend Extensions in Brentwood; Reeve Feels 'Pre-Election Atmosphere'

SAANICHTON—The contentious question of municipal responsibility in the maintenance of roads aroused considerable debate at Tuesday night's Central Saanich council meeting here.

It developed out of a suggestion by Central Saanich Chamber of Commerce that Sluggert Road be extended from Hagan Road to Wallace Drive.

It was claimed that the cutting through of this road would give access to a thickly settled district, provide a more direct route to school for children, and increase the value of property in that area.

ABIDE BY POLICY

Reeve Sydney Pickles contended that the long-established policy of the municipality should not be altered, and argued strongly that any development of this nature should come under the local improvement plan.

He expressed the view that recommendations for road improvements at this period of the year reflected "an atmosphere of pre-election undercurrents."

Mr. Harold Andrew felt the council was obliged to do something as it was a registered road.

He was supported by Mr. Willard Mitchell, who said it would keep the children off the main roads on the way to school, would allow better fire protection in the area.

RECOMMEND WORK

Finally, on the motion of Mr. Andrew, seconded by Mr. Mitchell, a resolution was carried referring the matter to the 1955 council with the recommendation that body that some work be done on the road.

Reeve Pickles, who was prepared to pass the matter over to the incoming council and brought in an amendment to that effect, voted against the resolution.

Later on the council questioned the right of the B.C. Electric to erect poles on Beggord Road, which, it was claimed, is not a public road. Then developed an argument as to the legal status of roads, the private road leading into the Anchorage at Brentwood being mentioned specifically.

MAINTAIN ROAD

The reeve pointed out that anyone could establish the legality of a road by utilizing the necessary machinery provided under the Highway Act.

Alberni Host To 'Sweepers'

ALBERNI — This city, instead of its larger neighbor, Port Alberni, will be host today to Cmdr. J. V. Steele and eight officers of the Second Canadian Minesweeping Squadron.

An official welcome will be extended at 7:30 p.m. Dances have been arranged for the visitors, and crews of the three 'sweepers' will take part in the Remembrance Day service.

Crown to Get $400 For Salvaged Wire

VANCOUVER (CP) — Two Vancouver Island men will have to pay the Crown $400 for their part in a six-year-old salvage job at Port Alberni.

Henry Franklin Bayeroff of Nanaimo fished a load of copper wire from the sea after a government wharf burned at Port Alberni in 1947. He sold the wire to Ruben Henry Stroheim of Wilson Creek.

Judgment for the $400 was ordered Monday by Mr. Justice J. C. A. Cameron in Eschequer Court.

New V.I. Pulp Plant To Cost $15,000,000

CAMPBELL RIVER—Crown Zellerbach of Canada Ltd. has announced plans for a new $15,000,000 kraft pulp mill to be erected at Duncan Bay, adjacent to the Elk Falls Company paper mill.

The announcement was made here Tuesday night by R. J. Filberg, company official, at a dinner given by the company for civic officials and business leaders.

G. W. Ledingham Co. Ltd. of Vancouver has begun removal of 35,000 yards of earth at the site. Until the dinner Tuesday, however, the company claimed awarding of the contract did not mean the mill would be built.

Guests, overjoyed at word of the development, were further pleased on learning that all known steps for the elimination of smelt would be utilized in the new plant.

Construction will begin in the spring, and production is scheduled to start in the summer of 1956.

First production target will be 400 tons of unbleached kraft pulp daily, Mr. Filberg said. Raw materials will be timber recovered in salvage operations on logged land, and waste products from sawmills and plywood plants.

Crown Zellerbach began developments in this area with the construction in 1952 of the Elk Falls paper mill.

Canada Gives $1.1 Billion Towards European Defense

OTTAWA (CP) — Canadian taxpayers have given outright $1,100,000,000 to Canada's European allies since April 1, 1950.

The up-to-date figure for this country's dollar aid for European defense was disclosed by defense department officials Tuesday.

Though the $1,100,000,000 is an outright gift since the beginning of the North Atlantic alliance's mutual aid program, it is an integral part of Canada's defense budget. This country gets no physical aid in return, but it is buying protection by helping to arm its European allies.

The total does not include the cost of maintaining in Europe the RCAF air division or the 1st Canadian Infantry Brigade Group. Together, they cost more than $650,000,000 a year.

HE DIDN'T APOLOGIZE ON 4TH TRY

HOME GARDEN

Make Plans Now to Feed Wild Birds This Winter

One of our privileges as gardeners is to enlist the aid of nature in our gardening.

November is well on its way, and whatever winter holds in store for us must be met with preparedness. It is not too soon to plan for the feeding of the wild birds who come to the shelter of our gardens during the stormy days of winter.

Primarily the birds come for insects and seeds of woods and of cultivated plants. But as with humans in time of need, substitutes are gratefully accepted. In the event of sharp frosts or snow which lies for more than a day, the birds will be happy to accept any food.

They do, however, show some preferences. Squash and pumpkin seeds are liked, and may be saved now as the vegetable is prepared for cooking. Dry them and keep ready in a tin or jar. Stale bread or cake crumbs may also be stored for later use.

Into an empty honey pail I am putting liquid fat. The pail will be stood in hot water briefly to remove the block of fat which may then be strung on a wire and attached to a tree or post. Birds, like humans, must have fat in their food to combat winter cold. Without it, they perish.

Many of the autumn fruiting shrubs are beloved by the birds, for the fruit is ripe by mid-winter when they need it most. When we have enjoyed its beauty for three months or so, few will begrudge its sudden disappearance as meals for the hungry bird visitors during the January cold spell.

As insect life awakens with the increasing power of the sun in early spring, the birds we have fed will be consuming millions of insect pests in our gardens. Let us welcome their presence.

Saanich Asks Tax on City Water Pipes

Saanich intends to press the city for payment of improvement tax on water pipes which it has on its Elk Lake watershed property.

City solicitor Arthur Patton has advised City Council it has no obligation to pay the tax, contending improvements are exempt as well as the land.

Saanich municipal clerk John Tribe, in a letter to the city, said the Saanich solicitor did not share Mr. Patton's view.

"This municipality's solicitor advises the council that he considers the City of Victoria to be liable for local improvement levies in respect of Elk Lake watershed bonds, and the municipal council takes the stand that the city is so liable."

City Council laid the Saanich letter on the table.

This course was suggested by Ald. Macmillan "inasmuch as we are in the process of deciding what to do with the Elk Lake property."

Suggestion that the city dispose of all its holdings in outlying municipalities, raised more than a month ago, is apparently gaining favor with aldermen.

Sentence Imposed By Hall Reduced

VANCOUVER (CP)—An 18-month sentence imposed at Victoria by Magistrate H. C. Hall on Arthur Lloyd Williams, 33, was reduced Tuesday by the B.C. Court of Appeal to the time he has been in jail since conviction, about six weeks.

Williams was convicted of retaining about $850 in stolen goods. He had no previous criminal record.

An appeal of Glen Arthur Richardson from a two-year sentence imposed by Judge L. A. Hanna at Alberni for breaking and entering was dismissed.

BOUDREAU LIKELY CHOICE FOR K.C. POST

NEW YORK (AP)—Arnold Johnson said Tuesday he plans to wait another week or 10 days before naming a general manager and playing manager for his new Kansas City Athletics.

He declined to say who was under consideration for either job but added he believed an experienced man who knows the American League would prove the most valuable on the field.

This apparently pointed to Lou Boudreau, formerly boss of the Boston Red Sox and currently unemployed.

Tourney 'Averages' Up for Study by ABC

That time of the year when bowlers pay small fees for the chances of winning is fast approaching. Which brings to mind the alarming fact that in recent years, and increasingly so last season, out-of-town tenpinners have paid in less and taken out more than local keggers.

Each year they invade Victoria with big handicaps, usually roll above their "so-called" average and take home the marbles.

They do this not once, but consistently.

Annually the situation is explained, and perhaps rightly, that faster alleys and better lighting has made for the better scores.

But, nevertheless, it does seem that the average of everyone who bowls in a tournament, or tournaments, on Vancouver Island should be recorded and used as an entering mark in succeeding tours.

It is interesting to note that the American Bowling Congress is planning to take similar steps in the United States.

Under a proposed plan, tournament managers would submit a complete list of all prize-winners, with the ABC maintaining a card file detailing every money winner's record for the season.

"The purpose would be to keep tab of bowlers whose low averages aren't consistent with their high scoring in tournaments," an ABC circular advises.

Now, all that is needed here is formation of an Island association to deal with this and other matters.

Alley marks continued to tumble this week. Bill Coates taking honors Tuesday night in Gibson's Senior Tenpin League as he opened his second game with a four-timer, spared the fifth, added a five-timer and a spare for a gigantic 268 single. His effort eclipsed the former mark set by Ken Munn at 247.

Coates, naturally, led the totals department with a 627 triple, while Munn, 619; Elmer Curtis, 599; Bill Holness, 580; Bill Norris, 579; Andy Palmer, 564; and George Motion at 559 followed.

Munn, 246, 204; Nip Sage, 222; Curtis, 214; Jim Ferrie, 214; Jim Nichol, 213; Motion, 207; Palmer, 205; Holness, 204; Roy Bridger, 203; Norris, 201; and Len Murrant, with 201, sniped other leading singles.

Victoria tenpin trundlers were defeated Saturday at Port Angeles in an intercity match, but still lead in total pins in the four-match series.

Local men now lead the Americans 16,791 to 16,743 after two matches in the race for the Twin City Trophy. Victoria

Mexican Riders Win

NEW YORK (BUP)—Mexico, with a perfect ride from each of its three riders, won the international perpetual challenge trophy Tuesday night, the final event of the 1954 New York national horse show.

Thus, Germany took seven blue ribbons in the show, Mexico and Spain three each, the United States one and Canada none.

Hawks Get Most Help In NHL Trading Bee

NEW YORK (CP)—In a move to rectify what president Clarence Campbell calls the "unenlightened self-interest" that has made perennial losers of certain clubs, National Hockey League owners Tuesday approved three player trades designed to bolster weaker clubs.

One of the deals sends centre Metro Prystai, 27-year-old Yorkton, Sask., native, who once scored 51 points in an NHL season, from Detroit Red Wings to Chicago Black Hawks, with whom he played before being traded to Detroit four years ago.

The Black Hawks, who finished in the cellar last season and now are in fifth place, also acquired centre Paul Masnick from Montreal Canadiens for a player to be named later.

The other trade sends defenseman Leo Boivin from Toronto Maple Leafs to the last-place Boston Bruins for veteran Joe Klukay, who was with the Leafs for six seasons before being sent to Boston in 1952.

In return for Prystai, the Stanley Cup champion Red Wings will get forward Lorne Davis, 23-year-old native of Regina, who was traded to Chicago this year by the Canadiens.

Campbell said in an interview following the meeting that he was pleased with the willingness of club owners to "try to do something to maintain the balance of the league."

"There has been a little too much of the same people being out of the running too long," he added.

BEST YEAR

In returning to Chicago Prystai will rejoin the club he was with when he had his best NHL year, 29 goals and 22 assists in 1949-50. After that season he was involved in one of the NHL's biggest player trades, under which he and three others went to Detroit in return for Harry Lumley, Jack Stewart, Al Dewbury, Pete Babando and Don Morrison.

Bill Warwick Leads Marksmen

KELOWNA, B.C. (CP)—Veteran Bill Warwick of Penticton V's is in his familiar spot at the top of the Okanagan Senior Hockey League individual scoring race.

The league's leading scorer of last season, Warwick has collected a total of 23 points in 14 games this season on 15 goals, and eight assists to hold a three-point bulge on teammate Jack McDonald and Kamloops' Bill Hryciuk, tied for second place with 20 points each.

SERVICE GRID CLUBS IN FIRST TROPHY MATCH

Two crack service junior grid teams will meet Thursday afternoon at HMCS Naden-Field in the inaugural game of the J. C. Hibbard Trophy competition.

The trophy was recently presented for annual one-game competition between the two naval units, Canadian Services College at Royal Roads and HMCS Venture.

Venture is undefeated to date. Royal Roads has suffered only one defeat, losing to Venture, 12-10. Game time is 2:30.

Rocks in Second Win; Take Senior Hoop Lead

Victoria Shamrocks now lead the local senior B men's basketball league, thanks to the sharpshooting of Archie Browning and Jack Northup.

Rocks posted their second successive victory Tuesday night at S. J. Willis Junior High School as Browning and Northup each hooped 16 points to pace Shamrocks to a 55-43 victory over Cec Fletchers.

Ken Murray paced the losers with 10 points, John Catterall and Paul Simpson each adding nine points.

In preliminary games, Ace Plumbers' juveniles whipped Gordon Head, 35-21, and Vic Westcott potted 10 points to pace Tillicums' midgets to a 24-17 win over First United.

S. Smith scored 13 points for Plumbers, while G. Sagers and B. Hitch each added 12. Tom Drysdale was tops for Gordon Head with 11 points.

Japanese Boxer Barred; Fear Adverse Reaction

SINGAPORE (AP)—The Singapore government Tuesday barred a Japanese boxer from entering the colony for a fight "because adverse reaction by the public in Singapore was feared."

The boxer, Mitsuo Yamamoto, No. 1 contender for the bantamweight championship of Japan, was scheduled to fight Siamese boxer Thep Vithool, Thursday night, in Singapore.

CRIMINAL ACTION MAY FOLLOW

Ontario Jockey Suspended for Life

TORONTO (BUP)—The Ontario Racing Commission was expected to complete an inquiry today into the province's first race-fixing charge in three years.

Magistrate S. Tupper Bigelow, chairman of the commission, said a complete report would be forwarded to Attorney-General Dana Porter for possible criminal action.

Jockey Ray Powers of Hamilton was ruled off Ontario's tracks for life Tuesday, but the 28-year-old veteran of Ontario, Quebec and United States tracks had vanished before the probe started.

The commission also imposed an indefinite suspension on Archibald St. John, a groom employed by trainer A. J. Roulcliff. Bigelow said St. John had refused to answer questions, but the chairman did not elaborate.

Powers was "suspended for life for offering bribes to interfere with the running of horses in a race at the current meeting" at Dufferin Park.

Every track in North America was expected to respect the ruling.

SUPERBLY ARTISTIC

Danilova Fabulous
In Cameo-Ballet

By AUDREY ST.D. JOHNSON

In presenting a concert group of ballet artists whose aim is to crystallize briefly, varying styles and traditional moments of ballet, Alexandra Danilova, one of the fabulous figures of the dance world, exhibits a fine sense of showmanship and superb artistry.

Her company of four (including herself, with duo pianists Daniel Gordon and Richard Ellis, were enthusiastically greeted by a large audience at the Famous Artists Ltd. presentation in the Royal Theatre, Tuesday night.

Despite the absence of elaborate trappings, orchestra and corps de ballet, an effective atmosphere was created by the quartet of dancers. It had the quality of intimacy combined with a happy versatility.

The effervescent "Mlle. Fifi", especially choreographed for her by Zachary Solov, was even more delightful this time than when she last danced it in Victoria. Her two partners, Roman Jasinsky and Michael Maule, were partly responsible for this, dancing with a verve, humor and clarity of miming that much heightened the piquancy of the piece.

Chopiniana, divertissement to music of Chopin, danced by Danilova, Moselyne Larkin, Roman Jasinsky and Michael Maule, opened the program in classic "black and white." A stylized Cotillon with music by Chabrier and choreography by Balanchine, was danced by Moselyne Larkin with Jasinsky.

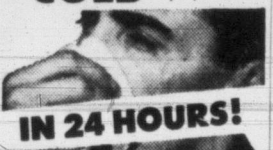

Larkin reveals fire and imagination in her dancing to supplement a well-disciplined technique, and was effective in her ingenue role in "Danube." But she was most impressive for brilliance and character, in the delightful "Carib Peddler." Music of Darius Milhaud supplied young Michael Maule with inspiration for some captivating choreography and mime in this number, which had a scenario by Morton DaCosta. Dancing the role of the peddler, Maule showed a depth of understanding of detail, emphasis and broad effect. Timing was especially fine and humor vividly drawn. This was definitely one of the most colorful and charming moments of the evening.

A buoyant and technically sound solo was also danced by Jasinsky.

Duo pianists cannot hope to be entirely adequate in accompanying ballet, but under the circumstances fitted as well as possible into the ballet-in-cameo form of the program. Solos by each and a group of Brahms' Liebeslieder Waltzes formed pleasing intervals.

GRAIN

WINNIPEG

WINNIPEG (CP)—Broad trade in oats and barley featured today's session of the Winnipeg grain exchange. Prior to both grains were steady, but rye and flax closed irregularly.

Substantial quantities of oats were reported sold to U.S. houses. Barley also went to U.S. interests as domestic shippers. An estimated 325,000 bushels were reported sold to the United Kingdom.

International interests made the old flax purchase. Rye trade was light and local.

Overnight report loadings of Canadian wheat included United Kingdom 1,220,000 bushels, Netherlands 345,000 and Jamaica, a small lot.

Lakehead prices for the top grades of Class Two, TWA and domestic wheat remained unchanged.

CHICAGOANS SEARCH LAW AGAINST COMMUNITY 'CHEST'

CHICAGO (UP)—Residents of Chicago's exclusive North Shore were agast today. A strip-tease dance plans to open a nudist camp in their midst.

The stripper is Evelyn $50,000 Treasure Chest West—her legal name since she changed it to call attention to her 39-inch bust. Miss West's bosom is insured for $50,000.

Suburban officials, horrified at the news, searched their law books to see what could be done.

Bringing Up Baby

Hints Collected by
Mrs. Ben Baker
(Mother of 5)

With November rearing its nippy head, certainly a few cold-weather precautions are in order. Baby should have his daily airing (except in freezing weather) but these few suggestions should be kept in mind.

1. Check weather reports before venturing out. (And a good thermometer is a sound investment.)
2. Baby should be cosily, but comfortably dressed. (Tight bundling restricts circulation.)
3. A length of sheet plastic is a sensible carriage accessory. Will shield baby if you're caught in rain or snow.

Dietary measure. Proteins, doctors tell us, are vital to growth and the development of all body structures, but they also have a favorable effect on resistance to infection. Gerber's Strained Meats are rich in complete proteins. Made from selected cuts, they're specially processed... have so little fat and fiber they're easy as milk to digest. 100% meat with just enough tasty broth to give a smooth, pleasant-texture. 6 strained varieties. 3 junior meats for tots with a few teeth.

Hearty lunch for a nippy November
BAKED POTATO SPECIAL
1 potato for each serving.
Salt butter or margarine.
Any of Gerber's Strained or Junior Meats.

Bake potatoes thoroughly. Remove insides and mash smoothly with butter or margarine and salt. Add half as much chopped or strained meat as potato. Blend well.

Perfect ending for baby's meal. One of Gerber's Strained Fruits or Desserts. 9 heavenly fruits, famous for tempting true colors, naturally good, true flavors. 4 wholesome custard puddings, creamy-smooth, delicately delicious. Gerber-Ogilvie Baby Foods Limited, Niagara Falls, Canada.

Magistrate Asked To Explain Handling of Juvenile's Case

City Council has called for a full report from Magistrate Henry C. Hall with regard to procedure followed in sentencing an 11-year-old city boy to a two-year indeterminate sentence even though, according to council information, the boy was never summoned nor his parents served with formal notice of the trial.

The case was brought to council's attention at its meeting Tuesday by the mayor, who said he had been asked to investigate the matter by the boy's mother. The mayor did not give names but related the following circumstances:

The boy was taken to his home by the city police juvenile officer on Tuesday, Oct. 19, who told the mother the lad had stolen a bicycle and a pair of binoculars.

The following day, Wednesday, the juvenile officer returned to the home and told the boy, "I want you at court at 2 o'clock." The mother is said to have questioned the officer as to whether a summons would be issued, and to have received the reply, "No, I want to get this thing over."

PLEADED GUILTY

In court that afternoon the boy pleaded guilty to the two charges of theft. His case was remanded for one week, pending decision by the magistrate as to sentence. During that week the boy was detained in the juvenile detention home.

On Wednesday, Oct. 27, the boy was again brought before the magistrate and sentenced to two years indeterminate in the boys industrial school. The mother, who was present on this occasion as well, claims she never had an opportunity to speak to the magistrate before sentence was read.

The mayor said he had investigated the woman's story with regard to no summons ever having been served and no formal notice being served on the parents and found this to be so.

EXPLANATION ASKED

He asked council to call for an explanation from the magistrate in this connection since the Juvenile Delinquents Act states specifically that when a juvenile is being brought to court notice must be served on his parents or guardian.

In the case of the 11-year-old, the mayor said, the mother had informed him that had such notice been served she would have gone to a lawyer.

The mayor revealed the juvenile officer involved was Arthur Rudge, who has since been suspended from the force for reasons the mayor said was not related to this case.

Following the mayor's report, Ald. Frank Mulliner and Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow moved to have the matter referred to the attorney-general for investigation and action.

Council decided against this, however, and voted in favor of an amendment by Ald. Brent Murdoch and Ald. Millard Mooney to call for an explanation from the magistrate first.

"It seems, from the information we've had, to be highly irregular," Ald. Murdoch said. "If

EMPRESS REDUCES RATES FOR CHILDREN

A new plan for reduced rates for families is now in effect at the Empress Hotel. No additional room charge will be made for children under 14 years if accompanied by one or both parents.

It is the first time the scheme has been tried at the Empress, and a similar system is in operation at Quebec City's Chateau Frontenac. The new plan is effective between Sept. 30 and May 1 in these hotels, and the year-round in all other CPR and CRN hotels in Canada.

The Empress and Frontenac are considered in special categories as seasonal rates vary due to heavy tourist influx.

If one or more youngsters occupy the same room with parents, the regular two-person room rate applies; if one or more occupy a room with only one parent, the one-person rate applies.

new ESSO EXTRA WINTER GASOLINE

the gasoline that gives you protection against

- carburetor icing
- gas line freezing

Does your car stall when idling? Research now proves a major cause of this is ice in the carburetor and gas line! Yes, ice! Even at above-freezing temperatures—in fact up to 55°F.—ice forms. To overcome this, Imperial Oil developed NEW Esso Extra with special anti-icing qualities that prevent stalling. This new gasoline also prevents gas line freezing... you no longer need to add remedies to the gas tank... or need run the risk of your car refusing to start.

If you stall, don't blame your engine until you try new Esso EXTRA

OTHER GASOLINES
Carburetor icing
a major cause of engine stalling

As you start your car, air is sucked through the carburetor and gasoline enters the air stream. As the gasoline evaporates, it chills the carburetor. Moisture in the air condenses on this chilled metal and freezes into ice, if the humidity is high and the temperature between 55° and 28°F. When idling, the ice forms a bridge between throttle plate and carburetor wall, the flow of the fuel mixture (see arrow above) is stopped... the car stalls.

NEW ESSO EXTRA
Prevents stalling caused by carburetor icing

New Esso Extra will not, of course, stop stalling due to mechanical defects but the special anti-stalling qualities of new Esso Extra prevent the formation of ice from the moisture in the air. The opening between the throttle plate and carburetor wall cannot become bridged with ice. The fuel mixture (see arrow above) continues to flow through the carburetor to give you smooth performance, free from stalling.

telling you before this date that there is an exceptional film now playing at the Plaza which, alas and alack, ends its run tonight. It is the British J. Arthur Rank production "The Final Test."

hour-and-a-half and when we left we felt convinced that in spite of it ending its three-day run it was our duty to warn all those who revere "the" game of Grace, Hobbs, The Oval at Lords and the interwoven characteristics of England's game that here was a rare film for them indeed.

WRITTEN BY TERRENCE RATTIGAN and directed by Anthony Asquith, "The Final Test" concerns Jack Warner who is carrying his bat into The Oval for the last time before retiring from the game. A widower, he woos the barmaid at the local pub and worries about his young son whom he wants to follow in his footsteps—but the boy prefers poetry. But what hurts most is that his offspring sneers at the beloved game, describing it as a group of men trying to hit a piece of red leather about with a stick.

UNBELIEVABLE PATHOS and tension eventually work themselves into this modest play as the boy goes to visit the great author, poet and theatrical man Robert Morley rather than watch his father bat for the last time. But he gets nowhere with Morley until Morley discovers he is the great cricketer's son. Together they rush to Lords in time to see Warner play. And somewhere along the route the boy discovers his father, in his own field, is an artist, too, one envied by his hero Morley of all people.

THE SIMPLICITY OF "The Final Test" is its right to excellence. When Warner walks out onto the Oval at Lords does he play the ball to the boundary with every whack and save the day for England? Of course not. He is ruled out leg-before-wicket during the first over. And then in one scene the camera catches the spirit of the game and the nation. The crowd stands up to a man and clap and cheer as he walks off the pitch, remembered for his play over the many years. We have always admired Robert Morley. He is a credit to the acting profession. But in "The Final Test" he excels himself.

SERIOUS FUTURE FOR JAZZ

CBC Keeps Canadian Musicians Eating Says Famed Conductor

By AB KENT

But for the CBC, Canadian musicians would be in "pretty poor shape," thinks Geoffrey Waddington, noted Canadian musician and CBC conductor.

The Toronto man is in Victoria to conduct the symphony orchestra next Sunday and Monday in regular concerts under a guest leader.

In discussing Canadian music Tuesday, Mr. Waddington said: "I don't think anyone will deny that the CBC has contributed a great deal toward serious music in Canada."

"We have contributed largely toward the Canadian musician's three meals a day," he said. Canadian Broadcasting Corporation is the largest buyer of Canadian talent in both musicians and composers, he declared, pointing out that it is part of the government corporation's job to promote Canadian music in accordance with the Massey commission report on culture.

JAZZ IMPORTANT The conductor called jazz an "interesting development" in the field of music, and predicted that it would play an important part in serious music of the future.

"Many people don't give it a chance," he feels. "You've got to really listen to it and work on it in order to understand it."

Although he is a serious musician himself, Mr. Waddington is aware that jazz music, even if "a passing phase" in musical evolution, is producing "new sounds," which will be absorbed into more serious compositions of the future.

NEW SOUNDS STRANGE

He pointed out the beginning of a departure from the classic 12-tone scale in musical composition and the increasing use of a 12-tone chromatic scale in contemporary writing.

"It is only natural that people should think that these new sounds are strange to ears accustomed to Mozart and Beethoven," Mr. Waddington explained.

"But it is not true that modern music has no melody, a complaint often made. The melody is there but it is not the kind people can grasp easily and take home whistling."

He agreed that, as in the past, there is both good and bad music written.

"We don't have too many jazz composers in Canada," Mr. Waddington pointed out. "It is due simply to economics that there is not more jazz written. It appeals so far to a minority which is not strong enough to support more of it," he said.

PLENTY OF TUNE

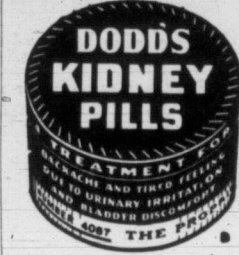

There is no "Canadian" music as such, he said, but "we're young; we'll grow; lots of things will happen here, and if history repeats itself our music will attract world-wide attention."

Hans Gruber's Victoria symphony orchestra is doing a "first rate job here," the conductor thinks. "Gruber is a man of high ideals and certainly has the respect of the men who work for him. The orchestra has a fine spirit, which makes a tremendous difference, and they are in the process of building. It will take some time, but they are on the right track."

LARRY HENDERSON WINS HIGH RANK

Brigadier To Command Island Militia Force

By ROY THORSEN
Larry S. Henderson, DSO, ED, 44, well-known and popular Victoria army officer and action commander of the Canadian Scottish (Princess Mary's) in the Second World War, has been promoted from lieutenant-colonel to brigadier.

Brig. Henderson will command 25 Militia Group Headquarters here, now being organized at Bay Street Armory to head up all militia (formerly reserve) army operations on Vancouver Island.

The Times learned of the promotion today from an official of B.C. Area Command at Vancouver. It was first believed that this militia command would only carry the rank of full colonel.

Expectation is that headquarters will be completely organized by the end of November. Four other officers have already been appointed to the HQ.

Brig. Henderson was born in Vernon and educated at the University of British Columbia. He joined the Canadian Scottish as a private in 1927 and received his commission a year later. Then a major he commanded Support Company of the Scottish in the assault on the Normandy beaches 10 years ago and a few days later took over command of a rifle company.

Brig. Henderson credits the DSO suffix to his name "to the fine work of my boys in Dog Company" in the fierce fighting in the Falaise Gap sector as the Victoria battalion hewed its way across northwest Europe. In the last few months of the war, he commanded the Scottish in action with the rank of lieutenant-colonel.

He has been on the Supplementary Reserve since the end of the war.

Brig. Henderson is the father of a son and daughter. He married the former Elise Corbett and is the son of Mrs. G. A. Henderson, 1021 Pemberton Road. He is the youngest of three brothers. The others are Maj. Henderson, Victoria, a former Scottish commander, and Ivo Henderson, who served in the RCA and is now a California resident.

Athletic Park As City Hall Site

CURB SERVICE FOR MAILING SUGGESTED

City Council Tuesday gave approval in principle to the idea of having a curbside mail chute installed outside the Post Office into which people could deposit letters without leaving their cars.

The idea was put forward by the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

In endorsing the proposal, council specified that any such installation would have to have approval of the city engineer.

Aldermen Cold-Shoulder Macmillan Suggestion

Suggestion that Royal Athletic Park be reserved as a site for a new City Hall was made Tuesday by Ald. Robert Macmillan.

Speaking against a public works committee recommendation that the city pay $5,000 for floodlights and other paraphernalia at the park, belonging to Victoria Baseball & Athletic Company Ltd., Ald. Macmillan said the Caledonia Avenue enclosure was not a good site for a park. He said the city should make a new enclosed playing field in its new Topaz Park development.

He suggested the present park would be an ideal site for a new city hall. He proposed the building face onto Cook Street. He called attention to the fact that offices of the city's health and welfare centre would be directly across the street.

The city, he said, would be able to get a good price for the present downtown location.

Council voted to buy the floodlights despite Ald. Macmillan's protest.

Ald. Macmillan argued that the city should not have to pay any money out to the baseball club when it still owed the city in excess of $11,000.

City comptroller Dennis Young said the city might collect $1,000 of this but had little hope of collecting any more.

"It's questionable in my mind if the city should deal with an organization that in the past has failed to live up to its promises and obligations," Ald. Macmillan said.

BETWEEN TIMES

By MONTE ROBERTS

Among the thousands of Victorians who failed to see the ballet last evening was me.

This was not because I do not appreciate the great cultural force of the ballet.

I simply do not understand ballet, and felt it would be unfair if I occupied a seat (free) which could better be held down by a true admirer of the ballet.

So I passed on my ticket to young Pete Loudon, whose long experience covering the rough-and-tumble of the police court has provided him with a proper cultural background.

Following the performance, Pete was kind enough to explain how to appreciate ballet.

"The trouble with people who say they don't like ballet is that they don't understand it," said Pete.

"Every little movement has a meaning of its own. Even if you come in late and don't get a program, any one with a little imagination can soon figure out what is going on."

"Sometimes it is easier if you narrow your eyes until there is a slight film over everything," he admitted.

"For instance, one of the first acts was performed by a girl who used no props to give you a hint," Pete said. "So you had to use your imagination."

"As you watched her graceful leaps it was easy to see this was none other than Little Eva crossing the ice with the bloodhounds chasing her."

"Later there was a basketball game, boys against girls, with no basketball," Pete went on. "Every once in a while a girl would jab a thumb in the eye of one of the men, and he would throw back his head with both hands over his optic."

"The best act was one in which a dancer goes to see an army PT instructor, who wears long johns, because she wants to reduce."

"He shows her a bunch of exercises, like stepping in and out of barrels, and she follows along doing them. Every so often he grabs her by the waist and lifts her to see if the treatment is doing any good."

"Finally he whispers in her ear that he doesn't think she has lost any poundage and she stiffens like an icicle and faints in his arms. Most people in the audience thought her figure was okay anyway. I know I did," Pete said.

"There were two other fellows, straight men, who come on stage like they were going to give the commercial, but they play the piano instead," Pete concluded.

"ANYONE can understand ballet," he said.

CLIMBER'S OWN STORY OF ORDEAL

Tiny Bird Stayed With Faulkner During Icy, Pain-Filled Night

By HUMPHRY DAVY

Times Staff Reporter

Charles Faulkner's only companion during long trying hours on the slopes of Mount Arrowsmith was a fluffy white ptarmigan which nestled close to him during the cold and windy nights.

This is what the Victoria climber told me when resting comfortably in the West Coast General Hospital after his ordeal on the mountain with a compound fracture of his left leg.

The little bird stuck to the climber through a storm which howled through the mountain passes and sent showers of rocks tumbling down into the gorges.

Except for the bird all else was inanimate, "cold and icy," he told me.

Earlier I trekked up the Mount Arrowsmith trail Tuesday to meet the rescue party on its way down with the Victoria climber who broke his leg in a 100-foot fall from the high slopes of the wind-swept mountain Sunday.

Faulkner was lying silently on the stretcher, but he was fully conscious of what was going on. A bandage wrapped around his broken leg was blood-soaked. A blanket was wrapped around his body to keep him warm.

An aluminum basket-type stretcher was borne by eight men. The rescue party had stuck two wooden poles through the stretcher in order to provide longer handles for the carriers.

The stretcher bearers moved with great difficulty along the winding trail. It was evident that they were taxed to the limit of the strength. At times a man would sag under the 200-pound weight.

Some of the rescuers were exhausted; so tired they could not speak. Now and again, one man would stumble. There were some who had not eaten a proper meal for three days.

I walked behind Dick Grady of Alberni and asked him how he felt. "I don't think I could go much farther," he said. "I never faced such cruel winds."

The party finally reached a logging trail and the injured climber was placed gently into a truck. Some of the men got in with him to hold the stretcher so Faulkner would not feel the bumps along the road.

Faulkner showed no sign of impatience, even when photographers asked the party to halt a moment in order to take a picture. He smiled and appeared in good spirits when he knew he was near the end of his journey.

Later I saw Faulkner in the X-ray room of the West Coast Hospital.

The Victoria climber was glad to see us. "It's good to see faces," he said, "and to hear voices."

He said it was a terrible experience on the edge of the precipice.

"All I could hear was the howling wind and the tumbling of rocks down the mountain side. I couldn't move as I was right at the edge."

He said he trying to reach the summit of Mount Arrowsmith and was about 12 feet from the top when he fell.

"I was working myself up to the summit when the rock I was holding to gave way," he said. "I must have somersaulted through the air. I first hit a snow bank, tumbled and rolled and came to rest a few inches from the precipice."

"I thought all was over," he added. "I knew my leg was broken and I couldn't move an inch because I was on the edge of the precipice. I could see the jagged rocks and boulders below."

meagre supply of food and no shelter.

Mrs. Ralph Rosseau, widow of the Port Alberni school principal killed early this year while trying to climb Mount Septimus, braved the elements of the mountain to bring the rescuers much-needed rope. She then descended down the mountain in the darkness.

At dawn Tuesday the rescuers managed to get Faulkner to Mount "Copeley," where they climbed a steep shale cliff in the face of an icy gale.

RESCUERS EXHAUSTED
On the top of Copeley they met another rescue team and Dr. N. H. Jones. The latter attended to Faulkner's injuries.

"I don't know what we would have done if we had not received reinforcement on Copeley," said a rescuer. "We were done. I don't think we would have got him down."

Throughout the rescue Faulkner did not let out a whimper, even when his leg bled where the bones were sticking through the skin.

Rescuers praised his endurance and patience. "That fellow is a real man and can take it," said one.

After Mount Copeley there was a long trek down a switch-back trail which taxed the men who were carrying the climber. They had to manoeuvre the stretcher around the steep side of the mountain, over logs and through brush.

It was dusk before they reached the mountain's base.

There, women were on hand to serve them coffee and refreshments. The highway was blocked with spectators.

"I will not want to go up there for a long time," commented an RCAF rescuer, LAC G. Bonner, as he slumped into a waiting car. "No, not for a long time."

CITY OBJECTION

Municipalities are expected to put up $325,000 as their share, but the city has objected to the formula suggested by the hospital board as a means of distributing this load.

Under the hospital's plan, the city would pay $160,250 (49.3 per cent); Saanich, $88,650 (27.3); Oak Bay, $37,375 (11.5); Esquimalt, $31,550 (9.7); and unorganized provincial territory, $7,175 (2.2).

The city contends the 49.3 per cent share it has been asked to assume is too much in the light of recent growth in outlying districts and potential development in future.

Catholic Bishop Won't Discuss Anti-RC Policy

The Roman Catholic bishop's palace here today, through an official spokesman, said they had no comment to offer on a resolution passed Monday by the Victoria branch, Canadian Protestant League, opposing any government financial aid to parochial schools.

Several months ago five Roman Catholic bishops, led by Archbishop W. M. Duke of Vancouver, asked the B.C. cabinet for such financial aid, claiming that the existing set-up is, in effect, double taxing of Roman Catholics.

A copy of the arguments presented was not available to the press, the spokesman stated.

Traffic Safety Lectures Start In City Schools

Students at 34 Victoria schools will be lectured on safety by city traffic officers, according to traffic sergeant, Brooke Douglas.

The safety program begins November 15.

Elementary and Junior High students will be warned of dangers in not keeping bicycles in top shape and in failing to observe traffic rules.

High school students will be given talks on automobile safety.

Eighteen cyclists have been injured so far this year in Victoria.

Baseball Club Owes City $2,400

Comptroller Young said, the city had a priority claim against the ball club for $2,400 but explained first claim against the company was by the Crown and second claim by persons claiming wages.

He said the Crown's claim amounted to about $300 and wages amounted to about $4,500.

"Probably if we check into it, we would find a majority of those back wages are owing the liquidator," Ald. Macmillan said.

For the $5,000, the city is to

Religious Film Open to Public At Metropolitan

Victorians will be able to see a new religious film, "The Life of John Wesley," called by some movie critics the sequel to "Martin Luther," at the Metropolitan United Church Hall on Friday and Saturday.

A J. Arthur Rank production, the three-reel 77-minute full-length color film covers the life of Wesley from childhood, through his conversion in Aldersgate Street and subsequently pictures the Evangelical revival that followed throughout England.

The film will be shown at 8 p.m. each evening with a special matinee performance at 2.30 p.m. Saturday, under sponsorship of the church.

Two Injured in Tuesday Mishaps Out of Danger

A logging mishap and a traffic accident each claimed a victim Tuesday evening in Greater Victoria but each of the injured is out of danger today.

Knocked down by a car as he attempted to cross Douglas at Ardersier at about 9.45 p.m., Jasper A. Graham, 54, 601 Ardersier, is in fair condition at Royal Jubilee Hospital.

He suffered shock, nose injuries and a laceration above his left eye when struck by a car driven by James William Whitely, 558 Mountfield Street.

Whitely had been proceeding north on Douglas, Saanich police said. The injured man was taken to hospital in police ambulance.

Earlier, 55-year-old logger, Horace Boss, 4127 Wilkinson Road, was admitted to surgery at St. Joseph's Hospital with a badly crushed foot.

Boss, an employee of the Bob Simpson Logging Company, had his foot caught between a heavy log and two rocks. His condition today is reported to be "good."

Three-Month BCE Bus Fares Total $346,052 Here

B.C. Electric buses in Greater Victoria travelled 863,791 miles and took in $346,052 in fares during the three-month period, ending September 30, according to a company report.

The buses travelled 544,983 miles within the city limits and fares earned within this area came to $228,003.

In accordance to terms of its franchise, the company has sent the city a cheque for $6,840, representing 3 per cent of the gross fare revenue earned in the city. The money is intended to help maintain the roads over which buses travel.

Dec. 2 Deadline To File Papers For Civic Vote

City property owners intending to run for aldermanic, school trustee or police commission seats in the December election will have up until 2 p.m. on December 2 to file nomination papers.

City council set this deadline at a meeting Tuesday.

At the same time it appointed City Clerk Frank Hunter and his assistant, Morran Waller, as returning officers for the election Thursday, December 9, in the city market building.

Polls will be open from 9 a.m. to 7 p.m.

ASK THE TIMES

Q.—Some time ago "Ask the Times" stated the first talkie ever seen in Victoria was "Mother Knows Best" at the Dominion Theatre, starting Dec. 24, 1928. I remember seeing a sound picture, "The Terror," about the same time. How long was that after the first?—A.B.C.

A.—"The Terror" was seen at the Dominion the week of Jan. 28, 1929. It was a sound picture based on the stage play of the same name, one of the most successful mystery plays of that time, which ran for three years in London. In the cast of the movie were May McAvoy, Louise Fazenda, Edward Everett Horton and Alec Francis.

Q.—Who was M.P. for Victoria 25 years ago?—L.C.A.

A.—D. B. Plunkett, Conservative. He was first elected at a by-election Dec. 6, 1928, and was re-elected at the general elections in 1930 and 1935.

Anyone wishing a question answered is invited to send the problem along to The Times, addressed to "Ask The Times" Editor. Questions and answers will be published daily.

All questions should deal with matters of fact and be of general interest. The Times does not undertake to solve conundrums.

Help Him Save His Pennies
For That Fishing Trip!

By PENNY SAVER

So he's a fishing enthusiast! What better gift could you buy for him then, than one to help him save for next year's fishing trip? Everyone will get a laugh, too, from this quaint pottery "fishing reel" bank. It's an exact replica of the real thing, complete with leather shoulder strap. He can put his savings in the slot for fish and... speaking of fish, there's one included across you buy this bank. A speckled trout is draped across the "wicker" basket and looking very tempting. Price of the bank is $3.95.

While we're on the subject of trout, I'd like to tell you about one, which I could have sworn was an expensive china model. It is twisted in a graceful jump, and is really a beautiful figure. But I discovered that it is not only a figurine, but also a paper weight and a bottle opener.

That's right... you see, the fish is really made of metal. His wide mouth opens the bottles and his weight makes him the ideal paper weight.

Still, until I picked the fish up, I couldn't believe it was not china. The markings are so beautifully painted that it would be an attractive ornament for the best living room or den. Price is $3.85.

Back to the subject of banks, here are some for the kiddies. They will love the new space banks, I know, because they are so very different.

Get junior a Man from Mars, a Man from Saturn or a Man from Jupiter.

Made of pale pink or cream smooth pottery, the banks have the most ridiculous faces, which I can guarantee will demand a smile from everyone. Queer curly brass antennae make them even more laughable.

Price of each bank is $3.25.

Bride Wears Golden Heart on Wedding Day

An heirloom gold heart, centred with an emerald which had belonged to the great-grandmother of her groom, was worn by dark-haired Juanita Lou (Skippy) Morris, when she became the bride of Theodore Brian Ruddock in St. John's Anglican Church.

Couple Exchange Promises In First United Church

An all-white floral setting of chrysanthemums formed a setting in First United Church, Saturday evening, for the wedding of Barbara Ann Watkins, daughter of Mrs. Ethel Watkins, 10 Regina Avenue, and W. H. Watkins, Victoria, to Thomas Henry Bray, son of Mrs. Irene Bray, 1141 Johnson Street, and the late Leslie Charles Bray.

Rev. Moir A. J. Waters officiated and the bride's father gave her in marriage. "The Lord's Prayer" was sung during the signing of the register by Don Mulcahy and Mrs. J. Roberto Wood was organist.

The bride's waltz-length gown was created of yards of misty nylon net over which drifted a Chantilly lace peplum edged with clusters of orange blossoms. She wore a matching lace bolero. A shirred net poke-bonnet head-dress held the bride's veil of silk illusion net edged with nylon lace which swept into a full train, and she carried a cluster bouquet of gardenias and white carnations.

Matron of honor was Mrs. J. R. Wakeham, sister of the bride, who wore an Empire gown of misty orchid nylon tulle, the dropped waistline outlined with braided ribbon. She wore a bolero with matching trim. A pleated hat sprinkled with rhinestones and a bouquet of white chrysanthemums completed her costume.

As bridesmaid, Miss Junine Kelpin wore a gown of forest green over pink nylon tulle. Her pleated taffeta head-dress was pink and she carried a bouquet of white chrysanthemums.

Cousin of the groom, Brian Donovan, Trenton, Ont., was best man and ushers were Leslie Bray, Bill Bray, brothers of the groom, and J. R. Wakeham, brother-in-law of the bride.

Reception was held at the Strathcona Hotel, where a small instrumental ensemble was in attendance. Uncle of the bride, Martin Cave, proposed the toast.

Six Armistice Services Will Honor Fallen

Major Commemoration Thursday Will Be Held at Cenotaph

By ROY THORSEN

Calling the "Last Post" will ring out in various sectors of Greater Victoria Thursday when thousands of citizens will bow heads in tribute to Canadians killed in war service.

Six "Last We Forget" services are on the district's Remembrance Day program, to keep alive the memory of those who made the supreme sacrifice so that Canada and Canadians can continue to retain their democratic way of life.

A total of 66,450 Canadians were killed in the First World War, 41,900 in the second war.

Remembrance Day services were held in all city churches

Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery, in Ottawa today for defense talks, will broadcast a Remembrance Day message over the Trans-Canada network of the CBC at 7:30, Thursday morning.

last Sunday, but special holy communions will be held at Christ Church Cathedral and some other churches Thursday at 11 a.m.

All Services to Participate

Highlight outdoor service will be at the Cenotaph on the southeast corner of the lawns of the Legislative Buildings. The RCN band, naval personnel, veterans, active and reserve army officers and men, RCAF reserve, RCMP, services cadets, Boy Scouts and others will participate, in this biggest of remembrance parades in this area, to start at 10:30 a.m. from Humboldt and Government.

A navy PO, an army sergeant, a sergeant from the RCAF and an RCMP officer will be positioned at the corners of the Cenotaph.

Twenty-five pounders fired by local Active Army personnel will signal the two-minute silence at 11 a.m.

Rev. Canon E. M. Tomalin, former RCAF padre, will officiate at the service. Following a short hymn period, benediction, the "Last Post" and "Reveille" will be sounded on the bugle and "O Canada" played by the naval band. IN PEACE AND FRIENDSHIP

LONDON (UP)—Prime Minister Winston Churchill appealed to East and West Tuesday night to seek an understanding so that mankind can "reach some day, with God's blessing, the shelter of a calmer and kinder age."

"I am one of those who believe that the powers of the West and of the East should try to live in a friendly and peaceful way with each other," he said. "It would certainly not be to anyone's disadvantage if they tried."

Churchill said, "We don't agree with Soviet Communism or with their system of one party uniformity" but that is a matter for the Russians to decide themselves so long as "they do not endanger the safety of the free world."

Churchill spoke at a banquet for the Lord Mayor at London's Guildhall. His words were broadcast throughout the land by radio and television.

He added, "I am an optimist. It does not seem to be much use being anything else."

"We might even find ourselves in a few years moving along a broad, smooth causeway of peace and plenty instead of roaming and veering around on the rim of hell."

PARIS (UP)—The powerful French Socialist party today prepared to throw its support behind the idea of Western European union and plans for German rearmament.

But the Socialists failed to act on the invitation of Premier Mendes-France to join his government and name cabinet ministers.

City Climber Safe in Hospital

Epic 50-Hour Ordeal Saves Injured Climber

By HUMPHRY DAVY

Injured mountain climber Charles E. Faulkner, 22-year-old Victorian, was "bearing up well" in hospital today after his 50-hour ordeal on towering Mount Arrowsmith's windswept peak.

Faulkner was conscious and cheerful when carried to safety late Tuesday. He was exhausted, so were the 30 rescuers who risked life and limb in a three-day battle to snatch him from the 6,000-foot peak's grip.

The 200-pound Victorian smashed his leg Sunday when he fell near Arrowsmith's summit, catapulting 100 feet to a tiny ledge.

Faulkner told one of his rescuers Tuesday that "the next time I fall, it will be down a flight of stairs. That won't give anyone any trouble."

AT DEATH'S EDGE
In West Coast General Hospital Tuesday night doctors treated the compound fracture of his leg which incapacitated Faulkner inches from the ledge's edge—and another fall that might have killed him. But it will be some days before it will be possible to set the compound fracture of the leg bone.

He also is suffering from shock and exposure.

The pain in his leg was "terrible" this forenoon, but hospital officials said he was "bearing up well."

Faulkner was brought down from the mountain in an aluminum basket stretcher at 6:30 p.m. Tuesday. He was conscious and cheerful, but evidently in pain and completely exhausted.

He was placed in an ambulance which was waiting for him at the lower end of Cameron Lake and rushed to the hospital in Alberni. Charles E. Faulkner, Sr., of 936 Fullerton, was present to meet his son.

Faulkner's rescuers performed one of the most daring and heroic alpine feats in the history of Vancouver Island. Many were civilians without mountaineering experience who left their jobs to undertake the mercy mission.

Knowland Calls Again For Break With Reds

MIAMI (UP)—Sen. William F. Knowland, angered by the shooting down of an American plane by Communist fighters, renewed Tuesday night his demand that the United States break off diplomatic relations with Russia.

The California Republican said that if such action were taken the United States would lose the "limited value" of having an ambassador in Moscow, but the Russians would lose the "much greater advantage" of having their embassy and consulates in this country where they serve as centres of espionage.

2 Men Drown As Fishboat Sinks in Gulf

Heavily Loaded Packer Swamped Off Fraser

VANCOUVER (BUP)—The 39-foot fishpacker Salmon Queen sank just before midnight in the Gulf of Georgia and the two crewmen aboard were drowned.

The boat swamped when it was heading into the mouth of the Fraser River with a load of fish. The two men, Jack Bruce, 22, of New Westminster, and Fred Orlesky, 19, of Lulu Island, were given up for lost early today.

The Salmon Queen, under charter to the B.C. Fish Packers Ltd., radioed at 11:39 p.m. that she was taking water over her stern about four miles off the Fraser River lightship while heading for the Imperial Cannery at Steveston.

The Salmon Queen was in company with another B.C. Fish Packers' boat, the Spay 1, when it was swamped by a huge wave. Crewmen aboard the second boat, including Skipper Leo Carter, said they thought they saw the boat go down but they could not be sure because of rain and squalls.

BOAT RECOVERED

One of the search boats, the Texada, recovered the Salmon Queen's mahogany, fibreglass-bottomed lifeboat just after dawn but there was no sign of the missing men.

An air force Canoe flying boat went into the search at dawn but was withdrawn after failing to make any sighting of the sunken vessel. An air force spokesman said the boat had sunk too deep to be sighted from the air.

Iranians Execute Fatemi

TEHRAN, Iran, (AP)—Former foreign minister Hossein Fatemi, firebrand of Mohammed Mossadegh's government, died before an army firing squad at dawn today for his part in the 1953 plot to unseat the shah.

Fatemi was convicted and sentenced by a military court a month ago.

The execution was carried out in secret at Ghaer barracks. It came as a surprise, since army sources said last week-end it would be delayed indefinitely because Fatemi was seriously ill.

Fatemi's former chief, ex-Premier Mossadegh, was convicted last December of trying to overthrow the monarch and is serving three years' solitary confinement.

Hunt for Dangerous Convict Shifts to New Westminster

NEW WESTMINSTER (BUP)—The intensive police hunt for James Carroll Hall, dangerous 31-year-old escaped convict, shifted here today after a motorist reported having given a lift to a man answering his description.

Hall, who is wanted in connection with Monday's $3,000 hold-up, escaped from the provincial mental hospital at Esson-dale, Oct. 14. He had been transferred there from the B.C. penitentiary where he was serving a 14-year-term for burglary.

Hall was confined to the Wilkinson Road Mental Home in Victoria in 1953 but escaped and made his way across the Strait of Juan de Fuca in a boat. He was recaptured later in Miami, Fla.

Meanwhile, in Vancouver Police Chief Walter Mulligan handed a vote of confidence by the Vancouver Police Commission, promised his force "would get down to business" today and "smash the recent crime wave in the nation's third largest city."

"We've got a job to do and I trust now we can get down to business and apply ourselves to doing some police work," Mulligan said.

Mayor Fred Hume expressed his full confidence in Mulligan's reportedly wobbly administration Monday after the chief threatened to quit unless the police commission, of which Hume is head, gave him a full vote of confidence.

"Now I've got the vote of confidence... and that's all I want," Mulligan said after the commission decided unanimously Tuesday night to pass the vote.

The squabble which caused Mulligan's threat to resign followed reports of dissension within police ranks during a recent crime wave which has left one murder, an attempted slaying, three bank holdups and one major drug store robbery in its wake.

Even as Mulligan was reassuring Hume he would do his utmost to curb the crime wave, another robbery occurred in Vancouver. Two masked gunmen entered Moran's drug store on Main Street and escaped with about $250. However, the store's proprietor said the bandits did not take narcotics, which reportedly are the basis of the outbreak of crime.

INVITATION

In reference to newspaper reports of low morale and dissension in the police department, Mulligan said it was an open invitation to criminals to begin operations in Vancouver.

Mulligan had earlier demanded the commission to either do or condemn the newspaper's story, but later said, "They gave me a vote of confidence... that's enough for me."

Meanwhile, Mayor Hume promised an all-out police mobilization to combat the underworld gang which Mulligan said was "taking this city apart."

At the same time police intensified their hunt for a dark-haired mystery man wanted for questioning in the bizarre slaying of newspaper printer Robert D. Hopkins.

City police are not overlooking the chance that current crack-down on Vancouver's underworld may force some criminals to seek new fields of operation here.

"All members of the city police have been alerted and are on the lookout for known criminals," Police Chief John Blackstock said today.

It was indicated that city banks have been warned and will take extra precautions against bank robbers who have struck four times in recent days in the mainland city.

Press Gallery Spoon Fed 'Predigested Pap' Says Esquimalt-Saanich MP Maj. Gen. Pearkes

Ottawa press gallery members are being spoon fed by "predigested pap" in the form of government handouts, and daily work shows them to be safe, from the government viewpoint, not likely to disclose anything in their radio talks which might create hostility to the government at the polls.

General Pearkes said the Liberal administration hires a "large army of information officers in every department. They are paid by you and other taxpayers," he said.

"Their job is to supply facts and figures supporting the government side to any question."

"There are nice rewards for rewriting government handouts," he said. "Former Defense Minister Brooke Claxton used to take frequent trips to Korea, and to Europe, and often a correspondent accompanied him."

"A young newspaperman could have a nice trip abroad, in a cabinet minister's private plane," he said.

"Is our press, under the Liberal government, free?" asked General Pearkes. "Here is an example of the subtle, shadowy manner in which our press is imprisoned."

"Mackenzie King appointed one Ottawa newsmen to the Senate. Liberal governments have appointed others to well-paid plums—government jobs. The government-controlled Canadian Broadcasting Corporation offers high fees for short talks by newsmen whose record and daily work shows them to be safe, from the government viewpoint, not likely to disclose anything in their radio talks which might create hostility to the government at the polls."

General Pearkes said the Liberal administration hires a "large army of information officers in every department. They are paid by you and other taxpayers," he said.

"Their job is to supply facts and figures supporting the government side to any question."

"Have we a free press and radio system in Canada?"

"The Ottawa press corps is being spoon-fed by government handouts."

General Pearkes quoted Ottawa correspondent Patrick Nicholson as saying: "An unwritten agreement has developed between press gallery correspondents and government officials."

TREATED AS CAD

"Those high in political office talk off the record to the political correspondent, making him their confidante. The press gallery correspondent who gives a version different from the official one soon hears about it, and is treated both by government and by his colleagues as a bit of a cad."

He quoted correspondent Austin Cross as saying: "Your pin-up reporter these days, as far as the St. Laurent regime is concerned, is the fellow who sits around playing gin rummy until the government messenger arrives with the daily handout from the official mouthpiece. There are nice rewards in government circles for rewriting such masterpieces."

General Pearkes said a "very wise and experienced diplomat now stationed in Ottawa, who has seen the press really at work in the great news centres of the world such as Washington, Paris, London and Berlin," told him the Ottawa gallery corps were "spoon-fed" by government press releases.

The diplomat believes the press in those capitals mentioned "is free, and would refuse to be bound by modern Canadian shackles," said General Pearkes.

One of the search boats, the Texada, recovered the Salmon Queen's mahogany, fibreglass-bottomed lifeboat just after dawn but there was no sign of the missing men.

An air force Canso flying boat went into the search at dawn but was withdrawn after failing to make any sighting of the sunken vessel. An air force spokesman said the boat had sunk too deep to be sighted from the air.

City Climber Safe in Hospital

Epic 50-Hour Ordeal
Saves Injured Climber

By HUMPHRY DAVY

Injured mountain climber Charles E. Faulkner, 22-year-old Victorian, was "bearing up well" in hospital today after his 50-hour ordeal on towering Mount Arrowsmith's windswept peak.

Faulkner was conscious and cheerful when carried to safety late Tuesday. He was exhausted. So were the 50 rescuers who risked life and limb in a three-day battle to snatch him from the 6,000-foot peak's grip.

The 200-pound Victorian smashed his leg Sunday when he fell near Arrowsmith's summit, catapulting 100 feet to a tiny ledge.

Faulkner told one of his rescuers Tuesday that "the next time I fall, it will be down a flight of stairs. That won't give anyone any trouble."

AT DEATH'S EDGE

In West Coast General Hospital Tuesday night doctors treated the compound fracture of his leg which incapacitated Faulkner inches from the ledge's edge—and another fall that might have killed him. But it will be some days before it will be possible to set the compound fracture of the leg bone.

He also is suffering from shock and exposure.

The pain in his leg was "terrrible" this forenoon, but hospital officials said he was "bearing up well."

Faulkner was brought down from the mountain in an aluminum basket stretcher at 6:30 p.m. Tuesday. He was conscious and cheerful, but evidently in pain and completely exhausted.

MET BY FATHER

He was placed in an ambulance which was waiting for him at the lower end of Cameron Lake and rushed to the hospital in Alberni. Charles E. Faulkner Sr., of 936 Fullerton, was present to meet his son.

Faulkner's rescuers performed one of the most daring and heroic alpine feats in the history of Vancouver Island. Many were civilians without mountaineering experience who left their jobs to undertake the mercy mission.

One person was injured in the rescue, Joe Lynn of Alberni, 16, was struck by a shower of rocks when attempting to reach the injured climber. One of the stones cut a deep gash on his head.

Lynn underwent minor surgery Tuesday. He was permitted to leave the Alberni hospital this morning.

Constable Iain Hall of Parksville, in charge of the rescue party, said it was "miraculous" that no one was injured or killed while bringing down the injured climber.

"It was terrible up there," he said. "Terrible is the only word that can describe it."

The rescue started Sunday night when Faulkner's climbing companion, Brian Saunders of Metochosin, staggered out to the highway bringing word to the RCMP that his friend was seriously injured on a ledge near Arrowsmith's peak.

Ul' Bitterlich one of the island's most experienced climbers, and Leo Lynn, left that night and found Faulkner lying on a tiny ledge overlooking a 300-foot precipice. Below was an alpine plateau covered with boulders.

The two men were unable to move Faulkner, because of his broken leg. Using nylon rope, they tied him to a rock to prevent him from falling over. They also bandaged his leg and tried to make him warm and comfortable.

Three F-100 Fighters
In Unexplained Crashes

WASHINGTON, NOV. 10 (UP)—The air force today grounded its F-100 Super Sabre jet fighters, the world's fastest operational plane, because of three recent crashes.

It said the planes, which can fly higher than 50,000 feet at speeds exceeding 800 miles an hour, will be kept out of service as a "precautionary measure" while it investigates accidents in which two men were killed and a third injured.

Air Commodore Geoffrey D. Stephenson, commandant of the British Royal Air Force central fighter establishment, was killed Monday when an F-100 crashed at Eglon Air Force Base, Fla.

George Welch, a North American Aviation test pilot, was killed Oct. 12 when he parachuted from a Super Sabre when it began to break up in the air over Lancaster, Cal.

The F-100 is the successor to the F-86 Sabre that gained fame in the Korean War and is much larger and faster. It is the first combat plane in history that can exceed the speed of sound in level flight.

James Hall, Who Once Escaped From Local Institution, Sought in New Westminster

NEW WESTMINSTER (BUP)—The intensive police hunt for James Carroll Hall, dangerous 31-year-old escaped convict, shifted here today after a motorist reported having given a lift to a man answering his description.

Hall, who is wanted in connection with Monday's $3,000 hold-up, escaped from the provincial mental hospital at Essondale, Oct. 14. He had been transferred there from the B.C. penitentiary where he was serving a 14-year-term for burglary.

Hall was confined to the Wilkinson Road Mental Home in Victoria in 1953 but escaped and made his way across the Strait of Juan de Fuca in a boat. He was recaptured later in Miami, Fla.

Meanwhile, in Vancouver Police Chief Walter Mulligan, handed a vote of confidence by the Vancouver Police Commission, promised his force "would get down to business" today and smash the recent crime wave in the nation's third largest city.
